This poignant book examines poverty wealth and inequality in the UK and provides insight into its history its present day forms and possible routes to its eradication The book demonstrates how poverty wealth and inequality are constructed in the UK noting that it is not an innate part of the human experience but a phenomenon which is constructed by economic and social circumstances Using work ranging from Malthus interrogation of the natural right of the poor to full support in society to more contemporary approaches including Thomas Picketty's Capitalism in the Twenty First Century the authors examine various forms of poverty wealth and inequality in the UK using the UK Household Longitudinal Study Understanding Society dataset to ground their findings in quantitative evidence The book concludes with an assessment of what is required to potentially end poverty in the UK and a call to apply evidence based research to the reshaping of social policy in the UK This book is an excellent resource for students policy makers and lecturers seeking a greater understanding of poverty wealth and inequality in the UK It will be of particular interest to those working in or studying the fields of human geography economics and social policy

Towards a more equal society?

Hills, John,Sefton, Tom,2009-02-25 When New Labour came to power in 1997 its leaders asked for it to be judged after ten years on its success in making Britain a more equal society As it approaches the end of an unprecedented third term in office this book asks whether Britain has indeed moved in that direction The highly successful earlier volume A more equal society was described by Polly Toynbee as the LSE's mighty judgement on inequality Now this second volume by the same team of authors provides an independent assessment of the success or otherwise of New Labour's policies over a longer period It provides consideration by a range of expert authors of a broad set of indicators and policy areas affecting poverty inequality and social exclusion analysis of developments up to the third term on areas including income inequality education employment health inequalities neighbourhoods minority ethnic groups children and older people an assessment of outcomes a decade on asking whether policies stood up to the challenges and whether successful strategies have been sustained or have run out of steam chapters on migration social attitudes the devolved administrations the new Equality and Human Rights Commission and future pressures The book is essential reading for academic and student audiences with an interest in contemporary social policy as well as for all those seeking an objective account of Labour's achievements in power
