Public World Syntactically Impermanence:

The Public World/Syntactically Impermanence Leslie Scalapino, 2012-01-01 The Public World Syntactically Impermanence is a brilliant consideration of the strategies of poetry and the similarities between early Zen thought and some American avant garde writings that counter the language of determinateness or conventions of perception The theme of the essays is poetic language which critiques itself recognizing its own conceptual formations of private and social the form or syntax of the language being syntactically impermanence Whether writing reflexively on her own poetry or looking closely at the writing of her peers Leslie Scalapino makes us aware of the split between commentary discourse and interpretation and interior experience The poetry in the collection is both commentary and interior experience at once She argues that poetry is perhaps most deeply political when it is an expression that is not recognized or readily comprehensible as discourse

Expanding Authorship Peter Middleton, 2021-06-01 Expanding Authorship collects important essays by Peter Middleton that show the many ways in which in a world of proliferating communications media poetry making is increasingly the work of agencies extending beyond that of a single identifiable author In four sections Sound Communities Collaboration and Complexity Middleton demonstrates that this changing situation of poetry requires new understandings of the variations of authorship He explores the internal divisions of lyric subjectivity the vicissitudes of coauthorship and poetry networks the creative role of editors and anthologists and the ways in which the long poem can reveal the outer limits of authorship Readers and scholars of Wallace Stevens William Carlos Williams George Oppen Frank O Hara Robert Duncan Robert Creeley Jerome Rothenberg Susan Howe Lyn Hejinian Nathaniel Mackey and Rae Armantrout will find much to learn and enjoy in this groundbreaking volume

Leaving Lines of Gender Ann Vickery, 2000 The most significant contribution to the literary history of Language writing to date

The Wisdom Anthology of North American Buddhist Poetry Andrew Schelling, 2005-05-15 This unique collection brings us African Americans reading the Black diaspora through the eyes of exiled Tibetan monks Americans of Vietnamese and Tibetan heritage wrestling with the cultural norms of their parents or ancestors Zen and Dada inspired performance pieces and groundbreaking writings from the pioneers of the Beat movement so many of whom remain not just relevant but vital to this day With its eclectic mix of acknowledged elders and newly emergent voices this landmark anthology vividly displays how Buddhism is influencing the character of contemporary poetry

How to Live/what to Do Adelaide Kirby Morris, 2003 Adelaide Morris removes the work of the iconic writer H D from the various compartments into which it has traditionally been placed and examines what she terms the ongoingness of her writing showing her to be a playful linguistic innovator whose writings are relevant to many fields of human activity

H.D. and Poets After Donna Krolik Hollenberg, 2000 From her work's first appearance under the Imagist label to its later development in innovative long poems and prose H D's excellence was recognized by her peers as well as her successors H D and Poets After is the first book to explore her influence on contemporary American poetry. Twenty essays half by eminent American poets writing about their literary engagement with H D and half by critics writing about H D in relation to these same poets provide a fruitful exchange of perceptions and interpretations. The dialogue between these two perspectives, the first autobiographical testimony and the second critical analysis by scholars attuned to both modern and contemporary poetics, calls into question both traditional notions of literary criticism and earlier theories of literary influence. The volume includes a range of contemporary responses to H D's work from Alicia Ostriker's radical eroticism to Brenda Hillman's epistemological restlessness to Carolyn Forché's response to moral disasters of the century. H D and Poets After demonstrates key aspects of the poet's continuing importance as a poet's poet in the best sense.

Poetry and the Public Sphere Maria Elena Caballero-Robb, 2003 Essay and General Literature Index Minnie Earl Sears, Marian Shaw, Dorothy Herbert West, 2000. Includes List of books indexed published also separately The Virginia Quarterly Review, 2000 Kiosk, 2002 Fence, 2000 It's Go in Quiet Illumined Grass Land Leslie Scalapino, Petah Coyne, 2002. Poetry. An enlightened work singing of death, physical pain, social fearfulness, and where, when, or whether one is. The intricate variable stanza sounds one of Scalapino's favorite themes: inside and outside the cruelty, outside and the illumination also there. You can't stop Alice Notley. In the interior light of night, perception and emotion toss the mirror aware to and fro. Leslie Scalapino notes that its flicker looked through is time, pain in the landscape of bone, a silent movie if nerves have language. I read it first on a computer screen and the elegance of its argument kept me scrolling the pulsating spine to the end. Tom Raworth: silver half freezing in day elation, the outside of the outside sky walking rose from the poem. SPD also carries many other Scalapino works including ORCHID, JETSUM, THE TANGO, and a reading of her work WAY available with KENNING 12 THE AUDIO EDITION. The Consequence of Innovation Craig Douglas Dworkin, 2008. Literary Nonfiction Criticism Theory Poetics. Dworkin has edited a collection of amazing new essays on poetics summarizing the variety of poetics that have arisen in innovative writing during the past 10 years. Filling the gap that has arisen in publishing writing on new poetry, there are essays on computer programs as poems by Brian Kim Stefans, flarf poetics by Gary Sullivan, and Michael Gottlieb, uncreative poetry by Kenneth Goldsmith, and environmental poetry by James Sherry. There are essays on playwright Fiona Templeton and a groundbreaking piece by Sianne Ngai centered on Gertrude Stein. There is also an important group of general essays on the poetry marketplace by Steve Evans, Charles Bernstein, and Marjorie Perloff. If you buy one book this year or next year or the year after, buy this one. We Who Love to Be Astonished Laura Hinton, Cynthia Hogue, 2002. This first critical volume devoted to the full range of women's postmodern works includes some of the most respected writers and critics in the contemporary avant-garde. We Who Love to Be Astonished collects a powerful group of previously unpublished essays to fill a gap in the critical evaluation of women's contributions to postmodern experimental writing. Contributors include Alan Golding, Aldon Nielsen, and Rachel Blau DuPlessis; discussions include analyses of the work of Kathleen Fraser Harryette Mullen and Kathy Acker among others The editors take as their title a line from the work of Lyn Hejinian one of the most respected of innovative women poets writing today The volume is organized into four sections the first two seek to identify from two different angles the ways women of different sociocultural backgrounds are exploring their relationships to their cultures inherited traditions the third section investigates the issue of visibility and the problems and challenges it creates and the fourth section expands on the role of the body as material and performance The collection will breach a once irreconcilable divide between those who theorize about women's writing and those who focus on formalist practice By embracing astonishment as the site of formalist feminist investigation the editors seek to show how form configures feminist thought and likewise how feminist thought informs words and letters on a page Students and scholars of avant garde poetry women's writing and late 20th century American literature will welcome this lively discussion

Experimental Subjects Amy Jeanne Moorman Robbins, 2004 Qualified Hope Mitchum Huehls, 2009 What is the political value of time and where does that value reside Should politics place its hope in future possibility or does that simply defer action in the present Can the present ground a vision of change or is it too circumscribed by the status quo In Qualified Hope: A Postmodern Politics of Time Mitchum Huehls contends that conventional treatments of time's relationship to politics are limited by a focus on real world experiences of time By contrast the innovative literary forms developed by authors in direct response to political events such as the Cold War globalization the emergence of identity politics and 9/11 offer readers uniquely literary experiences of time And it is in these literary experiences of time that Qualified Hope identifies more complicated and thus more productive ways to think about the time politics relationship Qualified Hope challenges the conventional characterization of postmodernism as a period in which authors reject time in favor of space as the primary category for organizing experience and knowledge And by identifying a common commitment to time at the heart of postmodern literature Huehls suggests that the period defining divide between multiculturalism and theory is not as stark as previously thought

2002 Biennial Exhibition Whitney Museum of American Art, 2002 The 2002 Biennial Exhibition is the 71st in the Whitney Museum's signature series highlighting the most significant developments in American art over the past few years Throughout its history of support for the development of 20th and 21st century American art the Whitney Museum has fostered contemporary artistic innovation and diversity through its acclaimed and often controversial Biennial Countless prominent artists have made their museum debut at these diverse surveys of painting sculpture works on paper film and video performance and installation The current exhibition includes works by more than 100 artists in traditional Biennial mediums as well as new inclusions such as web related digital and sound art
