Privatization And Liberalization In The Middle East:

Privatization and Liberalization in the Middle East Iliya F. Harik, Denis Joseph Sullivan, 1992 a highly original and valuable contribution on an important and most timely topic No other book on Middle Eastern political economy matches this one in combining clarity of focus and breadth of geographic coverage Robert Bianchi An international group of specialists take stock of the problems and prospects for privatization of state run economies and other liberalization efforts in a wide range of countries throughout the Middle East and North Africa Although privatization and liberalization are frequently regarded as economic measures the contributors demonstrate that it is the politics of such reforms that often determines the success or failure of economic policy changes The countries under review share a variety of economic and political characteristics yet are sufficiently different in their response to the call for privatization to constitute useful cases for comparative political and economic analysis Countries studied include Egypt Turkey Syria Jordan Iraq Saudi Arabia Tunisia and Algeria The contributors are Abdel Monem Said Aly Laurie A Brand Kiren Aziz Chaudhry Iliya Harik Fred H Lawson Marcie J J Sullivan and Dirk Vandewalle Economic and Political Liberalization in the Middle East Tim Niblock, Emma Murphy, 1993 The Modern Middle East, Third Edition Mehran Kamrava, 2013-09-27 From the fall of the Ottoman Empire through the Arab Spring this title offers a classic treatise on the making of the contemporary Middle East remains essential reading for students and general readers who want to gain a better understanding of this diverse region Political Liberalization and Democratization in the Arab World Rex Brynen, Bahgat Korany, Paul Noble, 1995 The Arab world is experiencing a variety of factors internal and external that are leading to change This work examines such factors that are shaping political liberalisation and democratisation in the Arab context as well as the role played by particular social groups

Business Politics in the Middle East Steffen Hertog, Giacomo Luciani, Marc Valeri, 2013-04-25 Although most Arab countries remain authoritarian many have undergone a restructuring of state society relations in which lower and middle class interest groups have lost ground while big business has benefited in terms of its integration into policy making and the opening of economic sectors that used to be state dominated Arab businesses have also started taking on aspects of public service provision in health media and education that used to be the domain of the state they have also become increasingly active in philanthropy The Arab Spring which is likely to lead to a more pluralistic political order makes it all the more important to understand business interests in the Middle East a segment of society that on the one hand has often been close to the ancien regime but on the other will play a pivotal role in a future social contract Among the topics addressed by the authors are the role of business in recent regime change the political outlook of businessmen the consequences of economic liberalisation on the composition of business elites in the Middle East the role of the private sector in orienting government policies lobbying of government by business interests and the mechanisms by which governments seek to keep businesses dependent on them The Third World Beyond the Cold War Louise Fawcett, Yezid Sayigh, 1999-04-01 The Third World

Beyond the Cold War presents an overview of the changes brought about in Third World countries since the end of the cold war The book does so in two ways by highlighting major areas of change in the Third World and using regional case studies as a means of isolating changes specific to certain regions The themes chosen by the editors economics politics security are not of course exhaustive but are broadly interpreted so as to encompass the major areas of change among Third World countries The regional case studies Asia Pacific Latin America South Asia Africa the Middle East were selected to bring out both the themes and the diversity of experience The essays written by leading scholars in the field of International Relations caters for a variety of constituencies those who seek the big picture in understanding the Third World in International Relations those who look for general patterns explanations and trends in Third World politics and those who seek up to date information and analysis on the progress of different regions

The political logic of economic restructuring in the Middle East Vicki Preibisch, 2007-02-04 Seminar paper from the year 2006 in the subject Politics Region Near East Near Orient grade 1 7 University of Kassel language English abstract It is claimed that Middle Eastern countries lack behind market reforms and show an antipathy towards neoliberal economic restructuring This research paper looks into the logic of economic restructuring whereby privatisation competition and regulation theory build the framework for analysing market liberalisation in the Middle East A case study on Islamic banking reflects the differences and challenges of respecting Muslim traditions at the one hand and Western financial practices on the other It becomes paramount that economic restructuring is perceived mostly negatively by Muslim states and therefore clashes with neoliberal understanding of pro market reforms are inevitable Political Correlates of Privatization Programmes in the Middle East Nazih N. Heydemann, 2004-08-20 This volume explores the role of informal networks in the politics of Middle Eastern economic reform The editor s introduction demonstrates how network based models overcome limitations in existing approaches to the politics of economic reform The following chapters show how business state networks in Egypt Morocco Tunisia Syria Lebanon and Jordan have affected privatization programs and the reform of fiscal policies They help us understand patterns and variation in the organization and outcome of economic reform programs including the opportunities that economic reforms offered for reorganizing networks of economic privilege across the Middle East Economic

Liberalization and Authoritarianism Christian Neugebauer,2022-01-21 Contrary to other world regions political regimes in the Middle East and North Africa MENA remain largely authoritarian While the search for explanations is still ongoing Christian Neugebauer draws attention to a hitherto underresearched factor economic liberalization Being part of a global shift from state led development towards structural adjustment in the economy these policies also deeply affected the countries of the MENA region This makes the resilience of authoritarianism in the region all the more puzzling as a large part of the scientific community expected economic liberalization to undermine authoritarian regimes Neugebauer strives to solve the puzzle with a comparative case study that covers four countries Egypt Tunisia Jordan and Morocco and their political regimes from independence in the 1950s to the Arab Spring in 2011 He shows that two specific policies of economic liberalization might in fact have been relevant for regime stability consumer price liberalization and privatization

Encyclopedia of the Modern Middle East Reeva S. Simon,Philip Mattar,Richard W. Bulliet,1996 Presents a precise explanation of the people places and events that have shaped the Middle East since 1800 The Third World and Prospects for Development in a Changing International Environment Harold Isaacs,1994 Economic Transition in the Middle East Heba Ahmad Handoussa,1997 Is there a new development paradigm This volume brings together a number of studies on the major issues of adjustment as they apply to countries of the Middle East and North Africa MENA The authors draw on economic political and institutional theory in order to appraise and compare the development models identify the determinants of sustained growth apply the new development concepts to the case of MENA countries and suggest viable options to reduce the political and social constraints to reform Four sets of issues are vividly highlighted throughout the book the issue of integration into the global economy and the speed with which foreign trade should be liberalized the issue of divestiture and the merits of following various privatization strategies the issue of state intervention in the context of liberalization and private sector orientation and the issue of democratization and the political economy of reform Contributors Fikret Adaman Nazih Ayubi Driss Ben Ali Amar Bhattacharya Ha Joon Chang Byron Gangnes Giacomo Luciani Seiji Naya Jeffrey B Nugent John M Page Jr Raed Safadi Mona Said Khaled Sakr Murat Sertel The Government And Politics Of The Middle East And North Africa, Fourth Edition David Long,Bernard Reich,2002-04-08 Rapid social economic and political change is endemic to the Middle East and is often more revolutionary than evolutionary in nature In many ways the entire political landscape of the Middle East has been transformed in the past decade in the realm of both international relations and domestic politics The collapse of the Soviet Union the end of the cold war and the Iraqi invasion of Kuwait have all had a profound effect on relations among states within the region and between those states and countries outside the region In this revised edition Long and Reich provide comprehensive and up to date analyses of many critical contemporary events and issues The contributors explain how Desert Storm isolated Iraq and brought Syria back into the mainstream of Arab politics contributing to the revival of the Arab Israeli peace process They also show how the return of a Labor government in Israel has allowed the peace process to go forward Evaluating the economic costs of the Kuwait war and the continuing oil glut the authors find that resulting changes in the domestic economies of the oil producing states have created additional pressures for social and political change The most profound change in government and politics however is the rise of Islam as the idiom of political discourse among moderates as well as extremists
