Problems in Geriatric Medicine Anthony Martin,1981 Problems in Geriatric Medicine A. Martin,2012-12-06

The fact that there are special problems in the care of the elderly in the community is ample justification for writing a separate volume on the subject The knowledge that there are increasing numbers of older people in virtually every country in the world makes it all the more important that the family physician should have sympathy with and understanding of the problems of them since they are likely to make up a significant part of his workload and increasingly will take up more of his time and energy There is a progressive amount of disability with advancing years and this is particularly true of those aged 75 years and over Increasing age is associated with serious impairment of hearing and vision senses which younger people take for granted Old age sees the arrival of major diseases of middle age with much greater frequency such as ischaemic heart and cerebrovascular disease diabetes mellitus and osteoarthritis There are other disorders that are virtually confined to the elderly such as fractures of the femoral neck Paget s disease and myeloma We now know that the disintegration of the conducting tissue of the heart is largely an age related phenomenon Ageing processes affect every major organ system in the body and the impairment of physiological performance resulting from these affects the elderly individual s response to infections disease and environmental changes in complex ways that are not seen in younger people Geriatric Medicine

M.S. John Pathy,Paul Finucane,2012-12-06 Medical care of the elderly today challenges the practitioner to break away from narrow diagnostic labelling and view the whole picture of disease in old age In an excellent problem oriented approach Geriatric Medicine offers a complete overview for practitioners The main portion of the text deals with the common diseases of old age important aspects such as physiology demography and health care delivery are discussed in separate chapters Social and legal aspects in the major English speaking countries receive adequate attention All of the contributors have at some time been connected with the University Department of Geriatric Medicine in Cardiff and attest to a positive and dynamic approach in geriatric medicine an approach that has international validity and relevance National Library of
