Patrick Meanor,Richard Edward Lee,2007 Focuses on how writers have established successful literary reputations without having appeared in mass circulation magazines Highlights the role of university presses in the success of many contemporary writers the generally uncommitted and indifferent attitudes of most of the mass circulation publishing houses and the importance of prizes that various organizations award annually and the influential anthologies in which these prizewinning stories appear New Ideas in the Writing Arts Graeme Harper,2013-08-19 New Ideas in the Writing Arts has come about because recent changes taking place in educational settings have influenced the ways in which learners and teachers are exploring Creative Writing The worldwide growth of Creative Writing as a formal subject of study in universities and colleges has generated explorations that appear now to be at the tip of an even greater range of explorations that promise to be undertaken in coming years When titling this book the intention was to say that we should consider what might currently be new what might be explored what might be introduced to a writer who has not thought of investigating certain aspects of Creative Writing or undertaking Creative Writing in a certain way Such freshness can often produce a development in a writer s own work Our 21st century development of research in Creative Writing undertaken by creative writers through writing practice and through a critical engagement with Creative Writing that begins in writing practice is already unearthing new ways of thinking about Creative Writing and new ways of undertaking it too New Ideas in the Writing Arts presents explorations of Creative Writing fresh from explorers of Creative Writing who have incorporated into their work ideas discovered in creative practice and ideas explored critically
