Showcasing Space:

Exploring Ethnography of Outer Space Jenia Gorbanenko, David (Jeeva) Jeevendrampillai, Adryon Kozel, 2025-01-31 This book explores new methods and perspectives in the anthropology of outer space For the past ten years scholarship of outer space has grown significantly in the social sciences Now an international community of anthropologists is starting to produce significant contributions to this work This is pushing the conversations around the future of humanity technology and outer space beyond the realm of speculative theory into concrete challenges to established norms within anthropology Each chapter in this volume introduces a unique take on what constitutes an ethnographic field in anthropology They signal a re imagination of the central concept for the discipline and offer a timely meditation on the shift in anthropology s understanding of fieldwork from its inception until now The volume consists of eleven ethnographic chapters plus an introduction by the editors and two invited responses Each of the main body chapters presents a distinct approach to situating outer space empirically on Earth By bringing together emerging and established scholars this book ultimately posits that an anthropological approach to outer space requires creative approaches to ethnography that are no longer exclusively premised on a co presence with the people under study A primer of innovative ethnographies and an ideal companion to courses on methods this volume will provide students with a body of accessible contemporary work on futurisms and outer space In addition this book will serve as a snapshot of a moment in ethnographically innovative anthropology that will be relevant to a wider academic audience through its exegesis of new methods for the study of distributed communities The Open Access version of this book available at <http://www.taylorfrancis.com> has been made available under a Creative Commons Attribution Non Commercial No Derivatives ShareAlike CC BY NC SA 4 0 license

The Oxford Handbook of Music Making and Leisure Roger Mantie, Gareth Dylan Smith, 2016-12-01 Music has been a vital part of leisure activity across time and cultures Contemporary commodification commercialization and consumerism however have created a chasm between conceptualizations of music making and numerous realities in our world From a broad range of perspectives and approaches this handbook explores avocational involvement with music as an integral part of the human condition The chapters in The Oxford Handbook of Music Making and Leisure present myriad ways for reconsidering and refocusing attention back on the rich exciting and emotionally charged ways in which people of all ages make time for making music The contexts discussed are broadly Western including an eclectic variety of voices from scholars across fields and disciplines framing complex and multifaceted phenomena that may be helpfully enlighteningly and perhaps provocatively framed as music making and leisure This volume may be viewed as an attempt to reclaim music making and leisure as a serious concern for amongst others policy makers scholars and educators who perhaps risk eliding some or even most of the ways in which music a vital part of human existence is integrated into the everyday lives of people As such this handbook looks beyond the obvious asking readers to consider anew What might we see when we think of music making as leisure
