Oceanic Circulation Models: Combining Data and Dynamics D.L.T. Anderson, J. Willebrand, 2012-12-06 This book which is the outcome of a NATO Advanced Study Institute on Modelling the Ocean Circulation and Geochemical Tracer Transport is concerned with using models to infer the ocean circulation Understanding our climate is one of the major problems of the late twentieth century The possible climatic changes resulting from the rise in atmospheric carbon dioxide and other trace gases are of primary interest and the ocean plays a major role in determining the magnitude temporal evolution and regional distribution of those changes Because of the poor observational basis the ocean general circulation is not well understood The World Ocean Circulation Experiment WOCE which is now underway is an attempt to improve our knowledge of ocean dynamics and thermodynamics on global scales relevant to climate change Despite those efforts the oceanic data base is likely to remain scarce and it is crucial to use appropriate methods in order to extract the maximum amount of information from observations The book contains a thorough analysis of methods to combine data of various types with dynamical concepts and to assimilate data directly into ocean models The properties of geochemical tracers such as ^{14}C ^3H He Tritium and Freons and how they may be used to impose integral constraints on the ocean circulation are discussed

Ocean Circulation Andreas Schmittner, John C. H. Chiang, Sidney R. Hemming, 2013-05-02 Published by the American Geophysical Union as part of the Geophysical Monograph Series Volume 173 The ocean's meridional overturning circulation MOC is a key factor in climate change The Atlantic MOC in particular is believed to play an active role in the regional and global climate variability It is associated with the recent debate on rapid climate change the Atlantic Multi Decadal Oscillation AMO global warming and Atlantic hurricanes This is the first book to deal with all aspects of the ocean's large scale meridional overturning circulation and is a coherent presentation from a mechanistic point of view of our current understanding of paleo present day and future variability and change It presents the current state of the science by bringing together the world's leading experts in physical chemical and biological oceanography marine geology geochemistry paleoceanography and climate modeling A mix of overview and research papers makes this volume suitable not only for experts in the field but also for students and anyone interested in climate change and the oceans

Uncertainty for Everyone The one thing that is certain about the world is that the world is uncertain I have here the question that apart of the matter living matter has to resolve in each and every one of its moments of existence The environment of a living being is apart of the living being where it turns out the rest of the living beings live This is the drama of life on earth Every living individual debates with his environment exchanging matter energy and information in the hope of staying alive the same as all living beings who share that same environment The adventure of a living being of all living beings is to maintain reasonable independence in face of the fluctuations of uncertainty within the environment The range of restrictions and mutual relationships is colossal How is the transcendental pretension of staying alive regulated There is an equation imposed by the laws of thermodynamics and the mathematical theory of information about the interaction of a living being with his environment which we could state like this The complexity of a living individual plus his capacity for anticipation in respect to his environment is identical to the uncertainty of the environment plus the capacity of that living being to change the environment
