Covenant and Creation W.J. Dumbrell,2009-11-01 Covenant Theology From Noah to David successive covenants are seen in the Old Testament as expressions of divine purpose The argument for and against the close relation of these terms of agreement between humankind and God have for the past fifty years been at the heart of biblical studies Old Testament scholar W J Dumbrell reaffirms one facet of this study the theory of covenant in Covenant and Creation Where many have since tried to refute or seriously modify this covenant model Dumbrell finds it at the core of Reformed doctrine Covenant and Creation traces the background and content of each biblical covenant beginning with Noah and God after the flood Abraham the creation of Israel and its people Mt Sinai and Moses the creation of the Law and David the creation of the monarchy And what of the New Covenant The effects of the Babylonian exile and the connecting themes in the books of Jeremiah Ezekiel and Isaiah are evaluated The epilogue delves into theological implications of the postexilic period in Israel s history and further developments by the major exilic prophets Readers will find this a summary most helpful in understanding New Covenant theology that emerged in the early Christian era Three Prophetic Days William Fredrick,1900 New Covenant Theology and Prophecy John G. Reisinger,2012-12-01 If we primarily use the Old Testament Scriptures to form our understanding of eschatology we likely will embrace a premillennial understanding of Abraham s and David s expectations At the risk of over simplifying we will refer to this as a Dispensational hermeneutic If we use the texts in the New Testament Scriptures that deal with the promise to Abraham we likely will favor the amillennial position Again at the risk of over

simplifying we will call this a Covenant hermeneutic short for Covenant theology Currently New Covenant theology has no clearly defined hermeneutic Adherents of New Covenant theology have attempted to answer this question by modifying either Covenantal hermeneutics or Dispensational hermeneutics One of the basic presuppositions of New Covenant theology is that the New Testament Scriptures must interpret the Old Testament How do the New Testament writers interpret the kingdom promises of the Old Testament Do the New Testament writers give a literal or natural meaning to the kingdom promises in the Old Testament or do they spiritualize those prophecies This book represents an attempt to begin serious work toward establishing New Covenant hermeneutics from the ground up that is without beginning with either Covenantal or Dispensational hermeneutics The Covenant Motif in Jeremiah's Book of Comfort Tiberius Rata, 2007 The Covenant Motif in Jeremiah's Book of Comfort Textual and Intertextual Studies of Jeremiah 30-33 examines Jeremiah's promise of a new covenant that God will interiorize his law into people's hearts This in depth syntactic semantic and pragmatic study of selected texts in Jeremiah 30-33 comprises the foundation for a superb biblical theology of the new covenant God's pledge that this covenant is not like the one I made with your fathers is explored in relation to the Abrahamic Mosaic and Davidic covenants Tiberius Rata makes a theologically and hermeneutically balanced incursion into Old Testament texts used in the New Testament and provides a springboard for further discussion on difficult yet important issues such as the Lord's Supper and the future of Israel
