Anne Stevenson is a major American and British poet Born in Cambridge of American parents she grew up in the States but has lived in Britain for most of her adult life Rooted in close observation of the world and acute psychological insight her poems continually question how we see and think about the world They are incisive as well as entertaining marrying critical rigour with personal feeling and a sharp wit with an original brand of serious humour Poems 1955-2005 is a remaking of Anne Stevenson's earlier Collected Poems drawing on over a dozen previous collections as well as new poems with this book's new thematic arrangements emphasising the craft coherence and architecture of her life's work major poets of our period it has never been by virtue of this or that much anthologised poem but by the work or mind as a whole It is not so much a matter of the odd lightning struck tree as of an entire landscape and that landscape is always humane intelligent and sane composed of both natural and rational elements and amply furnished with patches of wit and fury which only serve to bring out the humanity

George Szirtes London Magazine with a complex reality where an intently sensory world inhabited by wilful resistant people is overlaid by ghosts ideas and spectral emissions the historical philosophical and scientific all dimensions of what obviously isn't there and yet can't be denied

Emily Grosholz Michigan Quarterly impressive but her talent is for fusing the disciplines into an honest and humane account of our world and expressing this through rhythm and form She is wise without portentousness her technique faultless and her imagination fiery political and fresh
