THE PRACTICAL MYSTIC

HOW TO MAKE PERFECTION APPEAR

BY
KATHARINE FRANCIS PEDRICK

Part I introduces to the reader two distinct worlds,—that of the materialist and that of the mystic. At the end of Part I some one tired of life,—as it appears,—has caught a glimpse of the beauty of the Mystic's vision. He wishes,—is even willing to study,—to attain its power, and to that end begins with Idealism. His original purpose,—the overcoming of evil,—soon compels him to follow the lead of the germinat Idealists. Their "Way" is given somewhat in detail in Part II.

The fire is but ashes on the page. The fate of every mystic message! But the least breath of understanding rekindles it. People do not need to sin and suffer,—that is the message. Seemingly difficult to understand; but each, says the mystic, has this understanding at his command, and if he will try, may become aware of that which he possesses. The last of the book tells him how to try. It shows the volume to be a textbook,—a remedy for so-called evil,—and justifies the title, "How to Make Perfection Appear."
