

picketing the Castro theater. We were carrying our phony picket signs denouncing Fantasia and people on the street were laughing at us—no one was really taking it seriously.

Each of our picket signs identified a different organization. One was called C.A.F.E.—Coalition Against Fantasia's Exhibition. I was pretending again to be Dwayne Newtron and my group was called S.P.A.S.M.—Sensitive Parents Against Scary Movies. I claimed to have a six-year-old daughter who had had nightmares for weeks after seeing the "Night on Bald Mountain" sequence, featuring scary ghosts and goblins. We also had the "Bay Area Just Say No to Drugs Committee" which opposed the dancing mushrooms, opium poppies and drunken centaurs in the film. Then we had Dieters United who were offended by the hipopotamus and elephant ballerinas. We had B.A.D.R.A.P.—Bay Area Drought Relief Assistance Program, and they were against Mickey Mouse wasting water in the "Sorcerer's Apprentice" sequence. And there was M.A.S.A., Musicians Against Sappy Arrangements, who were against Tchaikovsky selling out to Walt Disney and allowing his classics to be co-opted by this cheesy Hollywood cartoon.

The press release read, "A variety of religious activists plan to denounce the evolution sequence as well as the Satanic glorification in the 'Night on Bald Mountain' and the nudity in the pastoral scenes. Minority feminists and gay and lesbian activists will voice their opposition to the color-coordinated, stereotypical, heterosexual centaurs from the pastoral who they feel promote racism, sexism and homophobia."

• V: Well, it was the Castro neighborhood—

• PD: I know, it was preposterous that all these right-wing Christians were suddenly joining forces with these gay rights activists to do this alleged picketing—

• V: Yeah, it was a real Rainbow Coalition.

• PD: Anyway, almost everyone had a great time. One woman came up to us and said, "I am very disturbed by your demonstration. I'm a union activist and have been involved in picket lines for years. I'm also a lesbian activist and have been involved in the Gay Rights movement. If you guys are making fun of this, it's really a problem for me." And then she paused for a moment and said with a sly smile, "Unless you're part of the San Francisco Cacophony Society and this is a prank." I stayed in character but I thought, "Migod, this woman is so sharp." She wasn't part of our group but she had figured it out.

We picketed that day and then went to the U.C. Theater in Berkeley. My roommate Sarah grabbed the bullhorn and started this rant and I thought, "Damn, she's good!" Then we picketed Blockbuster on Geary Street in San Francisco. By this point the TV cameras were showing up because we kept sending out more press releases, and we also included some phony newsletters to make it appear we were an established organization.

We returned to the Castro to demonstrate again. This time there was an anti-censorship group present passing out anti-censorship fliers. One of our group was posing as a pro-Disney instigator; he wore a Mickey Mouse mask and was egging the crowd on: "Yay—another person bought a ticket for Fantasia! More money for Walt!" So he was faking giving us a hard time. That plus the presence of the news cameras created an intense, very confrontational environment, and at one point we were surrounded by a crowd of really angry people who were very close to getting violent with us.

• V: Who were they?

• PD: Just passers-by on the street. The interesting thing is that when we were there before, they ignored us or laughed us off, but when the TV cameras showed up, they mobilized and got very militant. Luckily, somebody in our group staged this complete freakout, screaming, "WALT DISNEY WAS ON DRUGS!! WALT DISNEY WAS ON DRUGS!!" And we all started chanting, "JUST SAY NO! JUST SAY NO!" Then people realized we were ridiculous and they started laughing at us and then dispersing.

• V: What mainstream press did you get?

• PD: I got called by the Wall Street Journal and Time magazine because I sent them a press release with my phone number. Each "leader" of each "sub-group" sent press releases with their phone numbers. For six months their home answering machines had phony messages like "Leave a message for [this organization]" . . .
