Secret Selves:

Secret Selves Oliver S. Buckton, 1998 Focusing on the representation of same sex desire in Victorian autobiographical writing Oliver Buckton offers significant new readings of works by such influential 19th century writers as Edward Carpenter John Henry Newman John Addington Symonds and in an epilogue E M Forster and reveals the confessional elements of their writings

Secret Selves, 2010 Secret Selves Stephen Prickett, 2021-08-26 Who are we and how do we define our inner selves In his last work Professor Stephen Prickett presents a literary and cultural exploration of our inner selves and how we have created and written about them from the Old Testament to social media What he finds is that although our secret inner sense of self what we feel makes us distinctively us seems a natural and permanent part of being human it is in fact surprisingly new Whilst confessional religious writings from Augustine to Jane Austen or even diaries of 20th century Holocaust victims have explored inwards as part of a path to self discovery our inner space has expanded beyond any possible personal experience This development has enhanced our capacity not merely to write about what we have never seen but even to create fantasies and impossible fictions around them Yet our secret selves can also be a source of terror The fringes of our inner worlds are often porous ill defined and susceptible to frightening forms of external control Mystics and poets from Dante to John Henry Newman or Gerard Manley Hopkins sought God in their secret spaces not least because they feared the abyss beneath From the origin of human consciousness through modern history and into the future Secret Selves uses literature to consider the profound possibilities and ramifications of our evolving ideas of self

The Confession Maksim Gorky, 1916 Unleashing Our Unknown Selves France Morrow, 1991 Unleashing Our Unknown Selves begins with a critique of central paradigms in contemporary social science and ends with a provocative new theory of psychosexual development Dr Morrow brilliantly demonstrates why men are just as damaged as women by our present patriarchal sex gender system I highly recommend it as a primary text for graduate courses in human development psychology of gender and cultural studies Joseph L White Professor of Psychology Psychiatry and Comparative Culture University of California Irvine Described as a hopeful book Unleashing Our Unknown Selves presents a new theory of psychosexual development and concurrently of psychosocial evolution France Morrow claims that the sexual division of nature was a primordial organizing principle for all cultures However evolving qualities and psychological characteristics have been assigned by culture to women and men Real biological differences have over millennia been incorporated absorbed or superceded by cultural differences The resultant schism between femininity and masculinity represents the deepest cleavage in the human species crippling both men and women through the cultural subordination of women Morrow believes that to be truly whole both sexes must be allowed to release the repressed qualities of the opposite sex France Morrow s interdisciplinary focus finds hope in the explanatory power of a theory which systematically explores the crippling of both sexes by the cultural invisibility of women The book s chapters explore among other subjects the structure of gender evolution Sigmund Freud s impact on the future of femininity and masculinity and the internal repression of the majority self Morrow s study affirms the dependence of human survival on the integrating of our feminine selves with our masculine selves Her work is particularly directed to courses in developmental and social psychology gender studies sociology and women s studies
