

An archaeological excavation site in an urban environment. In the foreground, there are stone walls and a dirt path. A man in a blue patterned shirt and jeans stands looking towards the site. Another man in a grey shirt is kneeling, operating a yellow surveying instrument. In the background, a wooden fence separates the site from a modern building with large windows. Several people are visible behind the fence, including one in a high-visibility vest. The scene is well-lit, suggesting daytime.
