Snape Jr., 2013-11-11 In their second year in medical school students begin to learn about the differences between disease and illness In their studies of pathology they learn to understand disease as perturbations of molecular biological events And we clinicians can show disease to them by our scans lay it out even on our genetic scrolls and sometimes even point out the errant nucleotide Disease satisfies them and us at Yale lectures on the gastrointestinal tract run from achalasia to proctitis There is alas little mention of functional bowel disease or of the irritable or spastic colon for that is not easy to show on hard copy Functional bowel disease represents illness the response of the person to distress to food to the environment and to the existential problems of living In real life such matters are most important Richard Cabot first found out at the Massachusetts General Hospital almost a century ago that 50% of the patients attending the outpatient clinic had functional complaints The figure had grown to over 80% when the very same question was reexamined 60 years later

Domestic Violence Mangai Natarajan,2017-05-15 Domestic Violence is not just a public health and criminal justice problem it is also an issue of universal human rights that needs immediate and vigorous attention How we measure the prevalence of Domestic Violence what we identify as the risk factors which theories seem to provide most help in understanding and responding to Domestic Violence which preventive and treatment programs seem most effective and the respective roles of the health and criminal justice systems are all questions of vital importance in society s response to the problem
