Teaching at the Bauhaus Rainer Wick,Gabriele Diana Grawe,2000 Within the space of only 14 years the Bauhaus permanently altered the course of modern design and Walter Gropius s pedagogical approach revolutionised art schools Interest in the Bauhaus and Gropius s methods is as lively today as ever in conscious and unconscious borrowings from his work or in direct criticism of his ideas This publication is the only comprehensive account of the main pedagogical concepts behind the work of the Bauhaus Analytical essays illuminate the various approaches of individual staff members in the Bauhaus which included Gropius Hannes Meyer Mies van der Rohe Itten Moholy Nagy Albers Kandinsky Klee Schlemmer and Joost Schmidt Additional chapters investigate the pre history of the Bauhaus plus its predecessors in matters of art training outlining the development of the institution from 1919 to 1933 and the reception of Bauhaus methods in the Weimar Republic in the Third Reich in both Germanys after the Second World War and the USA drawing on otherwise widely dispersed writings on the Bauhaus as well as on a wide variety of other archive materials     Tokyoids Francois Blanciak,2022-09-13 A photographic survey of the robotic face of Tokyo buildings and an argument that robot aesthetics plays a central role in architectural history In Tokyoids architect Fran ois Blanciak surveys the robotic faces omnipresent in Tokyo buildings offering an architectural taxonomy based not on the usual variables size material historical style but on the observable expressions of buildings Are the eyes windows twinkling the mouth door laughing Is that balcony a howl of distress Investigating robot aesthetics through his photographs of fifty buildings Blanciak argues that the robot face originated in architecture before the birth of robotics and has played a central role in architectural history Blanciak first puts the robot face into historical perspective examining the importance of the face in architectural theory and demonstrating that the construction of architecture s emblematic portraits triggered the emergence of a robot aesthetics He then explores the emotions conveyed by the photographed buildings robot faces in chapters titled Awe Wrath Mirth Pain Angst and Hunger As he does so he considers among other things the architectural relevance of Tokyo s ordinary buildings the repression of the figural in contemporary architecture an aesthetic of dismemberment linked to the structure of the Japanese language and local building design and the influence of automation technology upon human interaction Part photographic survey part theoretical inquiry Tokyoids upends the usual approach to robotics in architecture by considering not the automation of architectural output but the aesthetic properties of the robot     Architecture as a Performing Art Marcia Feuerstein,Gray Read,2016-04-15 How do buildings act with people and among people in the performances of life This collection of essays reveals a deep alliance between architecture and the performing arts uncovering its roots in ancient stories and tracing a continuous tradition of thought that emerges in contemporary practice With fresh insight the authors ask how buildings perform with people as partners rather than how they look as formal compositions They focus on actions the door that offers the possibility of making a dramatic entrance the window that frames a scene and the city street that is transformed in carnival The essays also consider the design process as a performance improvised among many players and offer examples of recent practice that integrates theater and dance This collection advances architectural theory history and criticism by proposing the lens of performance as a way to engage the multiple roles that buildings can play without reducing them to functional categories By casting architecture as spatial action rather than as static form these essays open a promising avenue for future investigation For architects the essays propose integrating performance into design through playful explorations that can reveal intense relationships between people and place and among people in place Such practices develop an architectural imagination that intuitively asks How might people play out their stories in this place and How might this place spark new stories Questions such as these reside in the heart of all of the essays presented here Together they open a position in the intersection between everyday life and staged performance to rethink the role of architectural design

Watching Weimar Dance Kate Elswit,2014-07-17 Watching Weimar Dance asks what audiences saw on stages from cabaret and revue to concert dance and experimental theatre in the turbulent moment of the Weimar Republic Spectator reports that performers died or became half machine archive not only the physicality of past performance but also the ways audiences used the temporary world of the theatre to negotiate pressing social issues from female visibility within commodity culture to human functioning in an era of increasing technologization Archives of watching a range of performance artists including Oskar Schlemmer Valeska Gert Kurt Jooss Mary Wigman Bertolt Brecht Anita Berber and the Tiller Girl troupes also revise and complicate our understanding of Ausdruckstanz as the representative dance of this moment in Germany They further reveal how such practices came to be imbued with different significance in the postwar era as well as in transnational context By bringing insights from theatre dance and performance studies to German cultural studies and vice versa Watching Weimar Dance develops a culturally situated model of spectatorship that not only offers a new narrative but also demonstrates new methods for dance scholarship to shape cultural history
