Of Separateness Merging:

Dreams of Love and Fateful Encounters Ethel S. Person, 2007-04-02 This groundbreaking study has been widely hailed for its focus on a human emotion generally considered impervious to rational analysis romantic passionate love Ethel Person views romantic love as a powerful agent of change arguing that it is as central to human culture as it is to human existence This new edition of Dreams of Love and Fateful Encounters emphasizes the relevance of passion not only to lovers but also to mental health professionals whose patients often enter treatment because of love related issues from the inability to love or make a commitment to the perils of extramarital love to love sickness or loss of love She forthrightly addresses not only the power of love to unlock the soul but also its inherent paradoxes and conflicts Employing a philosophical perspective in order to understand the existential dilemmas posed by love and a cultural perspective in order to understand its cultural variability Dr Person breaks with contemporary intellectual and philosophical dismissive assumptions about romantic love She acknowledges love's vital importance and power proposing that passion serves an important function not only for the individual but also for the culture while charging psychoanalysis with a reductionist emphasis on sexuality and psychopathology that has narrowed the focus of inquiry into love Among the issues she discusses are romantic love's sources in our early lives its relationship to imagination and creativity and its capacity to enable the lover to transcend the self how romantic love often demands a reordering of values and promotes personal growth by exposing the self to new risks and possibilities the transformational potential of transference love in the therapy process flaws in the common misperception that women are more influenced by romantic love than men considerations of homosexual love love across generations and love triangles focusing on the individual growth that can result from such relationships Citing accounts of love drawn from literature film and real life Person focuses on the lover's internal soliloquy and external dialogue with the beloved that can develop over an individual's life An uplifting resource for people experiencing failing or unorthodox romances Dreams of Love and Fateful Encounters boldly takes on issues pertinent to lovers to professionals who encounter patients for whom key conflicts revolve around romantic love and to anyone who has struggled to understand the importance of romantic love in his or her own life

The Sexual Century Ethel Spector Person, 1999-01-01 Over the course of the past century sexual liberation has transformed the way in which most of us regard our bodies and live our sexual lives Now a preeminent psychoanalytic theoretician on sex and gender discusses what has gone into this unquiet revolution the roles played by sexologists and psychoanalysts antibiotics and birth control the liberation movements and Freud's insight that sex has as much to do with the mind as with the genitals In this collection of new and previously published papers Ethel Person writes of the centrality of sexuality to our identity She describes the role of fantasy in desire its different expression in the sexes and the way in which desire is inevitably intertwined with power Her classic papers on transvestism transsexualism and cross dressing homosexuals written with Lionel Ovesey help us to understand how gender and sex develop in all of us The public acceptance of the transsexual says Person is emblematic of the profound scientific and intellectual shifts that have taken place in the past hundred years The way that sex and gender develop and are experienced and expressed is the result not only of nature and nurture but also of the cultural zeitgeist its unspoken values and biases

The Philosophy of (erotic) Love Robert C. Solomon, Kathleen Marie Higgins, 1991 Solomon and Higgins have chosen excerpts from the great philosophical texts and combined them with the most exciting new work of philosophers writing today It examines the mysteries of erotic love from a variety of philosophical perspectives and provides an impressive display of wisdom that the world's best thinkers have brought and continue to bring to the study of love

Reading Beyond the Code Terence Cave, Deirdre Wilson, 2018-04-28 This book explores the value for literary studies of the model of communication known as relevance theory Drawing on a wide range of examples lyric poems by Yeats Herrick Heaney Dickinson and Mary Oliver novels by Cervantes Flaubert Mark Twain and Edith Wharton nine of the ten essays are written by literary specialists and use relevance theory both as a broad framing perspective and as a resource for detailed analysis The final essay by Deirdre Wilson co-founder with Dan Sperber of relevance theory takes a retrospective view of the issues addressed by the volume and considers the implications of literary studies for cognitive approaches to communication Relevance theory described by Alastair Fowler as nothing less than the makings of a radically new theory of communication the first since Aristotle's offers a comprehensive pragmatics of language and communication grounded in evidence about the ways humans think and behave While designed to capture the everyday murmur of conversation gossip peace making hate speech love speech body language and the chatter of the internet it covers the whole spectrum of human modes of communication including literature in the broadest sense as a characteristically human activity Reading Beyond the Code is unique in using relevance theory as a prime resource for literary study and it is also the first to claim that the model works best for literature when understood in the light of a broader cognitive approach focusing on a range of phenomena that support an embodied conception of cognition and language This broadened perspective serves to enhance the value for literary studies of the central claim of relevance theory that the code model is fundamentally inadequate to account for human communication and in particular for the modes of communication that are proper to literature
