Irish Gothic 1764 1832 reassesses the relationship between contemporary theology and the Gothic Investigating Gothic aesthetics depictions of the supernatural and portrayals of religious organisations it explores how the Gothic engages with contemporary theologies both Dissenting and Anglican Moving away from the emphasis on either a monolithic Protestantism or on the Gothic as a secular mode it shows the ways in which the Gothic exploration of the transcendent and the obscure cannot be separated from the diverse theologies of its day The project maps how the Gothic not only reflects but actively engages in the theological debates and controversies contemporary to its efflorescence Melmoth the Wanderer Charles Robert Maturin, 1977

Metaphors of Confinement Monika Fludernik, 2019 Metaphors of Confinement The Prison in Fact Fiction and Fantasy offers a historical survey of imaginings of the prison as expressed in carceral metaphors in a range of texts about imprisonment from Antiquity to the present as well as non penal situations described as confining or restrictive These imaginings coalesce into a carceral imaginary that determines the way we think about prisons just as social debates about punishment and criminals feed into the way carceral imaginary develops over time Examining not only English language prose fiction but also poetry and drama from the Middle Ages to postcolonial particularly African literature the book juxtaposes literary and non literary contexts and contrasts fictional and nonfictional representations of imprisonment and discussions about the prison as institution and experiential reality It comments on present day trends of punitivity and foregrounds the ethical dimensions of penal punishment The main argument concerns the continuity of carceral metaphors through the centuries despite historical developments that included major shifts in policy such as the invention of the penitentiary The study looks at selected carceral metaphors often from two complementary perspectives such as the home as prison or the prison as home or the factory as prison and the prison as factory The case studies present particularly relevant genres and texts that employ these metaphors often from a historical perspective that analyses development through different periods
