is a pervasive influence of language on our daily lives. The impact is that the work of linguists is no longer only managing language in one discipline but relating and interconnecting the linguistics with other fields at a further level. Linguistic studies have now been carried out in various fields including psychology, anthropology, neuroscience, law, philosophy, computer science, communications, and education. Linguistics enthusiasts find practical solutions for their linguistic training in the computer, law, and forensic industries, teaching foreign languages and English as a second language, translation and interpretation, speech pathology, lexicography, and policymaking in government and education. Nowadays these jobs are however no longer operational but encounter many challenges, especially in the global era. The digital revolution has created new avenues for language use and new communication modalities. The existence of technology mediates our linguistic and social interactions. The pervasive influence of technology on human development has the potential to influence language acquisition and change social behavior. In this global era, many challenges in human life arise. Our brave new digital world has caused some discord for language activists, and if harsh text speakers do not feel good, woe ensues: our new diet of round-shaped emojis. Our language and our relationship to language have developed to keep pace with cultural changes. Furthermore, since the spread of the COVID-19 pandemic, society has been carrying out communication online through the internet, and social media. Society has been accustomed to doing it that way. One of the challenges linguistics studies are facing is the implementation of appropriate language capacity. There are conditions for the use of inaccurate languages according to standardized rules in communication through online media. To solve this, reciprocal interactions are also important for creating a pool of different perspectives among the smart human community. In total, digital technologies are also changing the ways we learn and teach, as well as the ways we compose and research. These changes are occurring throughout the academy, including the humanities, a set of disciplines less associated with technology. In an effort to vanquish the challenges trending in the linguistic study, in order to depict the future perspectives on it established in the description above, fresh ideas from the younger generations are needed. For that purpose, the Graduate School of Linguistics, the Postgraduate Program, University of Warmadewa, in collaboration with other institutes, presents an international academic discussion forum in the form of a conference. This event is themed "The 2nd Student Conference on Linguistics Trends and Future Perspectives in Language Study and Language Teaching Through the Forum." Students from various parts of the world are expected to share bright and innovative ideas to discover solutions to the problems and challenges faced by linguistics today and in the coming future.

Matsuo Basho (1644-1694). , Gale Group Inc offers a biographical sketch about the Japanese poet Matsuo Munefusa 1644-1694 who was known as Basho and used the pseudonym Matsuo Basho. The information is taken from Encyclopedia of World Biography published by Gale Research in 1998. Munefusa wrote in the Japanese verse style of haiku, as well as writings about his travels. A sample of one of Munefusa's poems is included along with a sketch of Munefusa. A Reader in Edo Period Travel Herbert Plutschow, 2022-03-07. Largely ignored hitherto by Western scholars, Plutschow's Edo

Period Travel provides the first in depth study of the subject which is centred on fifteen of the period s most notable travellers some of whom are well known in other fields as intellectuals artists poets folklorists and natural scientists for example but rarely if at all as travellers The first traveller put in the spotlight is the celebrated intellectual and botanist Kaibara Ekiken 1630 1714 and the last is the explorer of Ezo now Hokkaido and government official Matsuura Takeshiro 1818 88 Such was the thirst for knowledge in the Edo period that some travel accounts estimated to number over 2000 became best sellers in their day not least for their voyeuristic appeal including those of Kaibara Ekiken and Tachibana Nankei which are included in this volume This important research on how the Japanese discovered their own country and cultural identity has considerable interdisciplinary appeal Of particular interest also is the author s discussion on the nature of this new travel writing and the self centred observation and seeing that developed in the eighteenth and early nineteenth centuries he calls the Japanese Enlightenment Basho and His Interpreters Makoto Ueda,1991 This book has a dual purpose The first is to present in a new English translation 255 representative hokku or haiku poems of Matsuo Basho 1644 94 the Japanese poet who is generally considered the most influential figure in the history of the genre The second is to make available in English a wide spectrum of Japanese critical commentary on the poems over the last three hundred years
