Molecular Mechanisms of Programmed Cell Death Yufang Shi, John A. Cidlowski, David W. Scott, Jia-Rui Wu, Yun Bo Shi, 2013-06-29 The 2002 Nobel Prize in Physiology or Medicine was awarded to Sydney Brenner, H. Robert Horvitz, and John E. Sulston for their seminal discoveries concerning genetic regulation of organ development and programmed cell death. This clearly marked the prime importance of understanding the molecular mechanisms controlling cell death. The 1st International Symposium on Programmed Cell Death was held in the Shanghai Science Center of the Chinese Academy of Sciences on September 8-12, 1996. A number of key issues in apoptosis were discussed at the meeting, and progress in major areas of apoptosis research was summarized by expert participants at the meeting and published by Plenum Publishing Corporation as a book entitled Programmed Cell Death. In the last six years, we have witnessed a real explosion in our knowledge on how cells undergo apoptosis, thereby participating in various developmental and pathophysiological processes. At this ever exciting time, we organized the 2nd International Symposium on Programmed Cell Death. Who Done It? Ordean A. Hagen, 1969. The Body Farm Abby Geni, 2024-05-07. Finalist for the CHIRBy Awards. Longlisted for The Story Prize. Longlisted for the Joyce Carol Oates Prize. The long-awaited new book from the critically acclaimed author of The Lightkeepers and The Wildlands, an intense and insightful collection that celebrates the horrors and joys of inhabiting our bodies. The body cannot tell any lies. From birth to death and through all the transitions in between, the body stores our knowledge and history, our feelings and experiences, our betrayals. These insightful and empathetic stories from the critically acclaimed author of The Last Animal shine new light on our physical vessels set against our physical world: two landscapes irretrievably connected and altered over time. An entomologist solves cold cases and upholds a sense of justice by studying the decay of corpses in a field and the insect life they develop. A caregiver obsesses over a stained glass lampshade to deal with the elegiac losses of Alzheimer's. A sister with webbed fingers highlights the often universal belief that our siblings just might be creatures brought forth from the deep. The memory of a scent evokes the haunting legacy of the COVID-19 pandemic. These eleven stories display Abby Geni's great capacity to take us into the lives and experiences of others to scrutinize the physical self: birth, childhood, transition, mental health, trauma, aging, illness, love, sex, and death. Skewed Kaidlin Rainne, 2013-12. This story is about a bipolar woman who attempts to find stability, productivity, and love in her life. She isn't very successful, but there are hints that everything will turn out right in the end. Chicago Tribune Index, 2003. Ebony, 2005-11. EBONY is the flagship magazine of Johnson Publishing, founded in 1945 by John H.
