Walls 7 Peter Brophy, Jenny Craven, Margaret Markland, 2008 This edited collection is drawn from the seventh Libraries Without Walls Conference held in 2007 From their beginnings in 1995 the Libraries Without Walls conferences have mapped a major change in the practice of librarianship While library services are still concerned to provide users with physical access to their buildings electronic access often from remote locations is becoming ever more dominant Library services are being integrated into virtual learning research and personal environments In 2007 CERLIM wished to encourage the widest possible range of papers to reflect the diverse current developments in library service delivery These covered New kinds of service especially those that open up new paradigms of library perhaps the library equivalent of YouTube or MySpace The library's role within new models of scholarly publishing including experience of developing services based on institutional or other repositories and the responsibility of the library for digital curation Service delivery in challenging environments especially where the infrastructure may be sub optimal as in some developing countries or where the user group represents particular challenges New technological solutions and the impact on users of the improved services they make possible Delivery and assessment of information skills literacies especially where this is achieved through electronic environments These state of the art papers are designed to increase understanding of the role and importance of information in the learning process and to enable information professionals and course developers to keep abreast of the latest developments in this vital area

Creatively Gifted Students are not like Other Gifted Students Kyung Hee Kim,James C. Kaufman,John Baer,Bharath Sriraman,2013-04-20 This book focuses on the needs of creatively gifted students and how schools can meet those needs Creatively gifted students show exceptional levels of creativity These students may or may not have developed other talents and abilities yet Even when their abilities and talents are apparent the needs of creatively gifted students may not be recognized by current gifted education programs Regardless of whether a creatively gifted student is included in these programs schools often inadvertently ignore their special needs The goal of this book is to share the newest research about the attributes and needs of creatively gifted students and the kinds of programs that best address those special needs The overarching goal of this book is to share with scholars educators and practitioners the latest research on creatively gifted students and the kinds of programs that best meet the unique needs of these students Through the knowledge and experiences shared here we hope to help close the gap between what these children need and what they are getting
