

A woman in a dark, textured hooded cloak is the central figure. She has a crown of thorns on her head and is holding a single thorn in her right hand. Her eyes are closed, and she has a pained or distressed expression. The background is dark, featuring a crescent moon and a skull with a hole in its forehead. The overall tone is dark and macabre.

Singer, 1999 Flying To The Moon: A Mother and Daughter's Journey Through Alzheimer's Jennifer Blackmore, 2012-07-15 FLYING TO THE MOON A Mother and Daughter s Journey Through Alzheimer s tells of the enduring devotion of a daughter and her beloved mother their lives imperiled by an abusive marriage and a debilitating disease As Ivy s awareness diminishes and Jennifer s marriage unravels they come together to embrace a new reality accentuated by poetry piano duets and their celebration of the nonsensical Once a self reliant single mother in control of her life Jennifer returns to her art and discovers a newfound confidence and direction her mother resolute in support despite the ravages of Alzheimer s Set in vibrant multicultural Miami this affectionate account of a mother and her daughter s journey touches on universal themes of loss survival and empowerment Poignant honest and inspiring Flying to the Moon offers hope to everyone affected in some way by this tragic affliction The Greatest and Deadliest Hurricanes to Impact the Bahamas Wayne Neely, 2019-12-09 The Bahamas is ideally located directly in the path of hurricanes in the North Atlantic These massive tropical cyclones have been ravaging the Bahamas since the Lucayan Indians blessed these islands with their presence Now for the very first time these greatest and deadliest Bahamian hurricanes have been presented and documented in book form Such named storms include Hurricanes Andrew Floyd Donna Dorian David Matthew Betsy Frances Jeanne and Wilma While other unnamed storms include The Great Nassau Hurricane of 1926 The Great Abaco Hurricane of 1932 The Great Bahamas Hurricane of 1866 The Great Okeechobee Hurricane of 1928 and The Great Andros Island Hurricane of 1929 The Bahamas hurricane season which lasts from June to November has seen plenty of catastrophic storms throughout history Here s a look at some of the greatest and deadliest storms that have hit the Bahamas over the past five centuries Chicken Soup for the Soul: Be You Amy Newmark, 2021-04-06 You are unique and that is your superpower In these 101 stories of affirmation determination and female empowerment you ll find role models and advice to help you make the most of that power You ll learn how they became comfortable in their own skins found their identities and set their goals all while still being themselves Flying against Fate S. P. MacKenzie, 2017-08-04 During World War II Allied casualty rates in the air were high Of the roughly 125 000 who served as aircrew with Bomber Command 59 423 were killed or missing and presumed killed a fatality rate of 45 5% With odds like that it would be no surprise if there were as few atheists in cockpits as there were in foxholes and indeed many airmen faced their dangerous missions with beliefs and rituals ranging from the traditional to the outlandish Military historian S P MacKenzie considers this phenomenon in Flying against Fate a pioneering study of the important role that superstition played in combat flier morale among the Allies in World War II Mining a wealth of documents as well as a trove of published and unpublished memoirs and diaries MacKenzie examines the myriad forms combat fliers superstitions assumed from jinxes to premonitions Most commonly airmen carried amulets or talismans lucky boots or a stuffed toy a coin whose year numbers added up to thirteen counterintuitively a boomerang Some performed rituals or avoided other acts e.g. having a photo taken before a flight. Whatever seemed to work was worth sticking with and a heightened risk often meant an upsurge in superstitious thought and behavior. MacKenzie delves into behavior analysis studies to help explain the psychology behind much of the behavior he documents, not slighting the large cohort of crew members and commanders who demurred. He also looks into the ways in which superstitious behavior was tolerated or even encouraged by those in command who saw it as a means of buttressing morale. The first in-depth exploration of just how varied and deeply felt superstitious beliefs were to tens of thousands of combat fliers. Flying against Fate expands our understanding of a major aspect of the psychology of war in the air and of World War II. Che and the Calaway Girls Nora Seton, 2021-06-29 As Hurricane Che cuts a swathe through the Gulf, Julia Calaway, a clothing designer for a famous Italian fashion house, prepares for the storm's impact. Together with her daughter, nine-year-old Gracie, Julia intends to hunker down and ride out the storm in her childhood home in Houston, a house which has survived years of hurricanes and witnessed years of violence and desolation, dark secrets that continue to haunt the Calaway sisters. As the coast braces for destruction, Julia's dying father is thrown out of his nursing home and delivered to her doorstep; her abusive ex-husband commits an act of violent vandalism, and her estranged sister confides a terrible secret that sheds further light on their childhood trauma.

Our War Christopher Somerville, 2020-04-16 Never heard before, real stories of soldiers who fought in WW2. Extraordinary. If they had not made our war, their war, also, victory might not have come in 1945. DAILY TELEGRAPH. In this powerful and moving narrative, Christopher Somerville skilfully links personal testimonies to present an epic which embraces comedy and tragedy, pride and degradation, close comradeship and stark racial prejudice, devotion to the benign Mother Country and a burning desire to see the back of her. Many of the veterans had never previously talked of their experiences, even to close loved ones. They cover such topics as attitudes to Britain before and after the war, why Commonwealth citizens offered to fight, and how some volunteers were inspired by their wartime service while others were thoroughly disillusioned. The result is a rare and faithful memoir to the five million Commonwealth citizens who fought for the Allies and the 170,000 who died or went missing. Eye of the Storm Amy Cherrix, 2017-04-25 With stunning photos, detailed maps, and infographics, Amy Cherrix takes readers on a trip into the eye of the storm of hurricane danger zones as she chronicles a team of daring NASA scientists looking to discover the future of the hurricane forecast. Ten million Americans live in hurricane danger zones, but how do we know if or when to evacuate? We must predict both when a storm will strike and how strong it will be. A daring NASA earth science mission may have finally found a way to crack this hurricane code. Dr. Scott Braun is the principal investigator for the Hurricane and Severe Storm Sentinel mission, HS3, which flies repurposed military drone over hurricanes so that scientists can gather data. But the stakes are high and time is running out. In the first Scientists in the Field book entirely about weather, meet the NASA team on the cutting edge of meteorological field science. After the Hurricane Leah Franqui, 2022-08-09 Named by Etaf Rum as one of the Best Beach Reads of All Time for Read with Jenna Reminiscent of Gabriela Garcia's Of Women and Salt Leah Franqui brings us an engrossing deeply personal novel with a mystery at its heart as a daughter returns to Puerto Rico to search for her troubled father who has gone missing after Hurricane Maria. From the outside Elena Vega's life appears to be an easy one: the only child of two professional parents, private school, NYU. But her twenties are aimless and lacking in connection. Something has always been amiss in her life: her father, the brilliant but deeply troubled Santiago Vega. Born in rural Puerto Rico, Santiago arrived in New York as a small child. His harsh mercurial father returned to the island, leaving Santiago to be raised by his mentally ill mother and his formidable grandmother. An outstanding student, he followed scholarships to Stanford, then Yale Law, marrying Elena's mother along the way. Santiago is the shining star of his migrant family, the one who made it out and struck it rich. But he is a haunted man, plagued by trauma, bipolar disorder, and alcoholism. He's lost contact with Elena over the years and returned to San Juan to wrestle his demons alone. Then Hurricane Maria strikes, and Santiago vanishes. Desperate to know what happened to the father she once adored, Elena returns to Puerto Rico, a place she loved as a child but hasn't seen in years. There she must unravel the truth about who her father is, crisscrossing the storm-swept island and reaching deep into his family tree to find relatives she's never met, each of whom seems to possess a clue about Santiago's fate. A compelling mystery unfolds as Elena is reunited with family and with a place she loved and lost: the island of Puerto Rico, which is itself a character in this book. It's a story of connection, migration, striving, love, and loss, illuminated by humor and affection, written by a novelist at the height of her gifts.

A celebration and a tribute to the warriors of the air who, as young men, served their country with unselfish devotion. Hear their words. Join these young Canadians in combat. AN EXCERPT FROM THE ACCOUNT OF GROUP CAPTAIN RAYNE SCHULTZ 410 SQUADRON. It was heading home very fast, a Junkers 188 in thin cloud, well out over the North Sea. We hit it badly and it was flaming, two-three hundred yards of flames streaming behind my navigator. Being a serious-minded individual, said, "Let's get in closer and take a good look at it, as it is a different type of aircraft and I can report on it when we get down." So I closed in, which was the stupidest thing I ever did. The mid-upper gunner was not dead; he was sitting inside of the flames. The next thing I saw, the gun traversing down toward us, I broke as fast as I could, but he put forty to forty-four 13mm cannon shells into us. I had pistons blown out of one engine and the constant speed unit blown out in the other. We were going to bail out. We jettisoned the door, and the navigator was halfway out when the chap came back from the Ground Control Intercept (GCI) and said, "There is a Force 9 to 10 sea, and we will never be able to rescue you." So we brought that aircraft back to Bradwell Bay, and I can tell you it nearly flew again. My navigator was wounded, bleeding from the face. I could see the engines running, red-hot; one was actually running on molten metal, the whole thing glowing inside. The air bottles were shot away, and I had no brakes for landing.
