Book Selection Policy

The Book Policy of the Lynbrook Public Library is based on three beliefs of the Board of Trustees.

The Board feels, first, that our community encompasses a great variety of backgrounds and interests. To satisfy appetites for education, inspiration and entertainment, our Library should offer as extensive and varied book collection.

Second, the collection should include varied and controversial points of views. We endorse the American Library Associations' Freedom to Read statement, a part of which is particularly applicable to a community such as ours: "We trust Americans to recognize propaganda, and to reject obscenity. We do not believe they need the help of censors to assist them in this task. We do not believe that they are prepared to sacrifice their heritage of a free press in order to be "protected" against what others think may be bad for them. We believe they still favor free enterprise in ideas and expressions."

The Board feels, third, that purchases of specific new books with budget limitations, is a responsibility of the Library Director and staff, and that they must be influenced more by the interest of their patrons than by their own personal preferences.

Book Selection Criteria

Collection development staff use their training, knowledge, professional reviews and expertise along with the following criteria to make selections for the Lynbrook Library collection:

- Accuracy
- Contemporary significance
- Interest to the community
- Popular demand
- Uniqueness of subject or approach
- Relation to existing collection and to other materials on the subject
- Cost
- Recommendations from the community
- Reputation of author(s), publisher(s) or producers
- Local author
