Window, 1998 Education under attack - 2010 Brendan O'Malley, 2010 Presents a global study on targeted political and military violence against education staff students teachers union and government officials and institutions The Publishers Weekly, 2005 Protecting education from attack: a state-of-the-art review UNESCO, 2010-02-08 Argues that in situation of armed conflict and insecurity deliberate attack on and threats against learner academic teachers and education facilities are both a barrier to the right to education and a serious protection issue Examines the nature scope motives and impact of attacks on education and of the work that is being done by communities organizations and governments to prevent and respond to such violence The Cheshire Cat Approach to United Methodist Youth Ministry John Gooch, 2005 This book compares and contrasts the goal of faith maturity with the fast paced nature of the culture providing youth workers with both understanding and tools to create proactive and relevant ministries that speak to youth today The book examines the characteristics of faith maturity the nature of culture and physical and emotional developmental issues In addition chapters give practical help with and specific models for Sunday school confirmation fellowship service and outreach programming plus teacher recruitment and training master plans choosing resources and ways to reach young adults Seeing Children, Seeing God Pamela D. Couture, 2000 In Seeing Children Seeing God Pamela Couture explores the actual and potential relation of the church and the theological school to economically and socially relationally poor children She argues that the solution to the problem of child poverty requires the shared responsibility of individuals families neighborhoods congregations governments businesses and international organizations because children develop within these multiple systems With their unique access to these multiple systems churches and theological schools are in a wonderful position to transform the social ecology within which children develop and to assist in children's flourishing Concretely what would it mean for the caring ministries of the church and those who teach and learn about them in seminary to make the issue of children and poverty central to what we do How would this change the way we live Pamela Couture argues from a Wesleyan perspective that caring for poor children is a means of grace a grace that deepens our experience as the adopted children of God She draws explicitly on recent writings that have updated the Wesleyan theological tradition Seeing Children Seeing God will be of particular interest to everyone who is concerned about children and poverty especially from a Wesleyan perspective Key Features Brief and accessible Offers a constructive theologically sound response to the problem of children and poverty Recognizes and shares responsibility for solutions across society but especially with the church and the seminary Key Benefits Readers will understand the dynamics and extent of the problem of children living in poverty today Readers will understand ways in which theology has undergirded efforts to deal with this problem in the past Readers will understand and identify with the specifically Christian imperative to respond to this problem Readers will understand how various groups can contributed to a concerted effort to deal with the problem Readers will understand how the church has failed to deal with this problem in the past
