Recasting The Text Inquiry Based Activities For Comprehending And Composing:

Recasting the Text Mary Frances Claggett, Louann Reid, Ruth Vinz, 1996 Recasting the Text a companion volume to Learning the Landscape provides activities that help students explore multiple ways of reading and re-creating a text in various forms. Examining the concept and uses of intertextuality among works from diverse times, places, and peoples, students see how individuals re-read and re-see human experience through stories. By creating texts themselves and reading clusters of texts from similar sources, students gain new perspectives about the processes of reading and writing. Recasting the Text thoroughly integrates the language arts, utilizing ways of knowing to which students respond most keenly: observing, analyzing, imagining, and reflecting. Students will deal with language and literature experiences through a range of media that includes writing, drawing, and performing, as well as discussion. All strategies have been tested in classrooms across the country and are based on current learning through language theory. This book can be used alone or as a supplement to any literature and language text. It is especially suitable for grades ten through twelve.

Crossing Over Harold M. Foster, 2013-09-05 This text for secondary preservice and in-service English language arts teachers offers a rationale for meaning-centered English language arts teaching and practical strategies for application. Its goal is to provide readers with an understanding of the issues involved in English teaching and specific examples of how to apply this understanding to classrooms. Teaching strategies are presented through a series of stories depicting teachers from a variety of settings practicing their craft with secondary students. Features: A solid introduction and interesting personal narratives introduce the issues and ideas involved in English language arts teaching. Case studies based on actual teachers and students realistically illustrate methods that can be used in secondary English classes. Lessons are described in sufficient detail to be converted to teaching models. Multicultural emphasis prepares teachers for the contemporary classroom. Chapters and sections incorporate the new literacies of TV, film, and computers in the English language arts class. Pedagogical aids include end-of-chapter questions and activities, reproducible charts and worksheets, an updated listing of young adult novels, and annotated recommended readings. An appendix on writing a personal narrative helps students develop as writers. New in the Second Edition: Updates. All chapters, bibliographies, and references are thoroughly updated to reflect changes since the first edition was published. Chapters 1 and 2 have been totally rewritten. Standards/Benchmarks. The IRA/NCTE Standards for the English Language Arts are incorporated into the text. Benchmarks and Performance Assessment Measures are included in all the pedagogical chapters to address proficiency concerns. A section on helping students prepare for state proficiency tests has been added. Computers. More is included on the use of technology both as a content to learn and as a process for learning. New Sample Unit Plans. Sections based on the instructional stories offer examples to help readers prepare for teaching. Literature response questions. These are now provided in Chapter 4 for use in journaling and discussions. Glossary. A chapter on important terms and useful strategies for the English language arts classroom has been added.

Teaching Writing

Mary Frances Claggett, 2005 This new resource for writing teachers helps students set purpose and find form for their writing In today s educational climate it is more important than ever that we prepare our students to be effective and competent writers who can write for a variety of purposes How can we teach our students the skills they need to be successful while also fostering an appreciation for the process craft and art of writing Drawing from sound theory and research as well as on many years of experience in the English classroom Fran Claggett and colleagues Joan Brown Nancy Patterson and Louann Reid have created a writing teacher s resource to help both new and experienced teachers sort through the often complex issues in the teaching of writing With innovative teacher tested strategies for creating a classroom in which students thrive as writers Teaching Writing Craft Art Genre is a must have addition to every writing teacher s library In this volume you ll discover research based discussions on key issues classroom ready lessons for teaching genre methods for incorporating poetry into the writing program rationale and lessons for using modeling to teach writing ideas for integrating technology in the English classroom strategies for teaching grammar in contexts for writing examples of student work that illustrate teaching concepts sample rubrics for assessment and student self assessment and an extensive bibliography of resources Statement ,1997 Bibliographic Guide to Education ,2002 lists publications cataloged by Teachers College Columbia University supplemented by The Research Libraries of The New York Public Library
