Reforming Economic Systems in Asia Maria Weber, 2001 Weber international relations and comparative politics Bocconi U Milan and other international scholars discuss the ongoing transition in Asian countries from socialist to market type economies The first four chapters analyze economic reforms in China Japan South Korea Malaysia and Thailand following the Asian crisis The remaining contributions examine international variables such as the role of the Asia Pacific Economic Forum in the process of trade liberalization since the Seattle protests Annotation copyrighted by Book News Inc Portland OR

Reforming from the Top John English, Ramesh Chandra Thakur, Andrew Fenton Cooper, 2005 The current system of international governance including the United Nations the G7 G8 the WTO the IMF and the World Bank is undergoing serious problems in its attempts to address contemporary global challenges seemingly ill equipped to bridge growing political and economic divides and to accommodate the needs of emergent markets Given these developments some scholars and practitioners argue there is a need to establish new multilateral forums that reflect 21st century realities such as a new Leaders Summit comprised of the leaders of 20 nations called L20 an institution that draws its inspiration from both the current G7 8 leaders meetings and the G20 finance ministers meetings This publication explores the changing nature of relationships in a globalised world and considers the role that a L20 grouping could play in bringing about reform of international economic and financial systems

Advancing the Rule of Law Abroad Rachel Kleinfeld, 2012-11-28 In the modern era political leaders and scholars have declared the rule of law to be essential to democracy a necessity for economic growth and a crucial tool in the fight for security at home and stability abroad The United States has spent billions attempting to catalyze rule of law improvements within other countries Yet despite the importance of the goal to core foreign policy needs and the hard work of hundreds of practitioners on the ground the track record of successful rule of law promotion has been paltry In Advancing the Rule of Law Abroad Rachel Kleinfeld describes the history and current state of reform efforts and the growing movement of second generation reformers who view the rule of law not as a collection of institutions and laws that can be built by outsiders but as a relationship between the state and society that must be shaped by those inside the country for lasting change Based on research in countries from Indonesia to Albania Kleinfeld makes a compelling case for new methods of reform that can have greater chances of success This book offers a comprehensive overview of this growing area of policy action where diplomacy and aid meet the domestic policies of other states Its insights into the practical methods and moral complexities of supporting reform within other countries will be useful to practitioners and students alike

Europe's National-Level Structural Reform Priorities Mrs. Nina Budina, Oyun Erdene Adilbish, Diego Cerdeiro, Mr. Diego A. Cerdeiro, Mr. Romain A Duval, Romain Duval, Balázs Égert, Dmitriy Kovtun, Anh Thi Ngoc Nguyen, Augustus J Pantan, Ms. Michelle Tejada, 2025-05-29 Europe has a large and persistent per capita income gap with the United States Deficiencies in total factor productivity labor utilization and capital intensity all play a role While deeper intra

Europe integration is one key element towards closing these gaps remaining structural domestic policy gaps with respect to most growth friendly regulatory settings highlight the scope for complementary policy action at the national level This paper compiles IMF staff s structural policy priorities for European countries to lift output over the medium term reviews key implementation challenges and discusses complementarities with EU level efforts While addressing these domestic reform priorities will require overcoming long standing political economy and in some cases technical obstacles to reform successful implementation could entail sizeable medium term gains of around 5 7 and 9 percent for advanced European Central Eastern and Southeastern European and Western Balkan economies respectively

Governance Innovation and Policy Change Nele Noesselt, 2018-10-15 This edited volume assesses governance innovation and institutional change under the fifth generation of China's political leaders headed by Xi Jinping The configuration of long term policy innovation without regime change requires skilled political actors who secure strategic majorities and set up coalitions to design and launch new policies Recalibrations or reconfigurations of the governance model respond to domestic reform pressures or external shocks in order to secure regime survival Given that most structural constraints and reform pressures do not arise out of a sudden the thrilling question is why the political elites sometimes decide not to engage in institutional reforms despite of widespread societal support for major restructuring and why they suddenly launch institutional changes in times of relative stability The authors address these issues by focusing on basic patterns and paradigms of governance and institutional change in China the actors and drivers of governance innovation as well as the impact of norms values and socio cognitive orientations This is added by some reflections on the interplay between abstract ideas reform debates and the making of concrete decisions as
