media such a crucial part of children s daily lives Are they becoming more important more influential and in what ways Or does a historical perspective reveal how past media have long framed children s cultural horizons or perhaps how families however constituted have long shaped the ways children relate to media In addressing such questions the contributors present detailed empirical cases to uncover how children weave together diverse forms and technologies to create a rich symbolic tapestry which in turn shapes their social relationships At the same time many concerns even public panics arise regarding children s engagement with media leading the contributors also to inquire into the risky or problematic aspects of today s highly mediated world Deliberately selected to represent as many parts of the globe as possible and with a commitment to recognizing both the similarities and differences in children and young people s lives from China to Denmark
