Aukerman, 1981 Lost Letters Lori Roberts, 2012-05 Ellie Morgan's life isn't going exactly as she planned She finds herself divorced and working as a teacher in the Midwest when word arrives that a distant relative has died and left her everything Ellie travels to Tennessee to attend to the estate which includes a large plantation house that has been in the family since the early 1800s Ellie feels drawn to the attic where she finds a stack of letters hidden in a hatbox The letters appear to be from a Civil War soldier by the name of Rafe Collins Rafe fought on the Confederate side however the letters are addressed to Ms Hattie Townes whose family stood behind the Union Ellie can't help but read the one sided exchange wondering at the love shared between Rafe and Hattie despite the division of war The more immersed Ellie gets the more she suspects she isn't alone in the grand plantation house A haunted spirit wanders the halls and Ellie soon realizes it's the ghost of Rafe Collins Distressed by his lost love he lingers in the house looking for answers What ever became of Hattie Why didn't she answer his letters Ellie decides to try to solve Rafe's mystery and in the process develops feelings for a local man Perhaps Ellie's broken heart can be mended and perhaps Rafe can finally find peace in the arms of his beloved Papers Read at the ... Congress of Women Association for the Advancement of Women, 1874

Schooling New Media Tyler Bickford, 2017 Popular music and digital media are constantly entwined in elementary and middle school children's talk interactions and relationships and offer powerful cultural resources to children in their everyday struggles over institutionalized language literacy and expression in school In Schooling New Media author Tyler Bickford considers how digital music technologies are incorporated into children's expressive culture their friendships and their negotiations with adults about the place of language music and media in school Schooling New Media is a groundbreaking study of children's music and media consumption practices examining how transformations in music technologies influence the way children their peers and adults relate to one another Based on long term ethnographic research with a community of schoolchildren in Vermont Bickford focuses on portable digital music devices i.e MP3 players to reveal their key role in mediating intimate face to face relationships and structuring children's interactions both with music and with each other Schooling New Media provides an important ethnographic and theoretical intervention into ethnomusicology childhood studies and music education emphasizing the importance and yet under appreciation of interpersonal interactions and institutions like schools as sites of musical activity Bickford explores how headphones facilitate these school centered interactions as groups of children share their earbuds with friends and listen to music together while participating in the dense overlap of talk touch and gesture of their peer groups He argues that children treat MP3 players more like toys than technology and that these devices expand the repertoires of childhood communicative practices such as passing notes and whispering all means of interacting with friends beyond the reach of adults These connections afforded by digital music listening enable children to directly challenge the language and literacy goals of classroom teachers Bickford s Schooling New Media is unique in its intensive ethnographic attention to everyday sites of musical consumption and performance and offers a sophisticated conceptual approach for understanding the problems and possibilities of children s uses of new media in schools
