

The book cover is a vibrant collage of various bird species and green foliage. The background is a light teal color. In the center, there is a white, octagonal-shaped area containing the title and author information. The text is arranged vertically: the author's name at the top, followed by the foreword author, then the title in large letters, and finally the subtitle. The birds are depicted in various poses, some perched on branches and others in flight. The foliage includes large green leaves and small yellow flowers. The overall style is reminiscent of classic natural history illustrations.
