Looking Deep:

Looking Deep in the Southern Sky Raffaella Morganti, Warrick J. Couch, 2013-11-11 The idea of a joint ESO Australia meeting on the large number of exciting new facilities that are or will soon be available in the southern hemisphere arose quite naturally. In the optical and the near infrared the Very Large Telescope VLT will soon be operational. In the radio the Australia Telescope Compact Array is going to be upgraded to higher frequencies 20 and 100 GHz together with an improvement in very long baseline interferometry VLBI facilities. Other major facilities such as the Large Millimetre Array and the SKA are being planned. Moreover new deep surveys are underway in the southern hemisphere: the southern Hubble Deep Field, the ESO Imaging Survey, the BICEP2 polarized deep surveys with the UK Schmidt telescope and the Anglo-Australian Telescope AAT 2dF galaxy QSO redshift survey in the optical and the Parkes multibeam HI survey and the Molonglo Observatory Synthesis Telescope MOST Wide Field continuum survey at radio wavelengths. With all these new facilities important progress will be made regarding important issues such as the large scale structure of the universe, the very early universe and the associated first epoch of galaxy formation. The generation of large databases and the opportunity for sensitive follow up observations in complementary wavebands mean that coordinated radio infrared and optical projects in the southern hemisphere are likely to become increasingly attractive and important.

Bilingualism and Deafness Carolina Plaza-Pust, 2016-12-05 This book examines sociolinguistic, educational and psycholinguistic factors that shape the path to sign bilingualism in deaf individuals and contributes to a better understanding of the specific characteristics of a type of bilingualism that is neither territorial nor commonly the result of parent to child transmission. The evolution of sign bilingualism at the individual level is discussed from a developmental linguistics perspective on the basis of a longitudinal investigation of deaf learners' bilingual acquisition of German sign language DGS and German. The case studies included in this volume offer unique insights into bilingual deaf learners' sign language and written language productions and the sophisticated nature of the bilingual competence they attain. Commonalities and differences between sign bilingual language development in deaf learners and language development in other language acquisition scenarios are identified on the basis of a dynamic model of change in the evolution of learner language with a focus on the role of language contact in the organisation of multilingual knowledge and the scope of inter and intra individual variation in learner grammars. In many respects, as becomes apparent throughout the chapters of this work, sign bilingualism represents not only a challenge but also a resource. Given this cross-disciplinary perspective, the insights on bilingualism and deafness in this volume will be of interest to a wide range of researchers and professionals.
