Melissa Marcus, 1995 In 1778 the Austrian physician Franz Anton Mesmer arrived in Paris to present his new doctrine animal magnetism later called mesmerism His stay in Paris provoked a lasting interest in and fascination with mesmerism in particular among various circles of European Romantic writers This book treats the theme of mesmerism in French writer Balzac's La com die humaine by demonstrating how Balzac acts as literary healer given his belief in the healing power of mesmerism It shows how mesmerism considered a panacea may become a form of social action It also examines Balzac's use of mesmerism as cosmological theory to illustrate his belief in one unifying principle for all intellectual and spiritual systems Gothic Vision Dani Cavallaro, 2002-08-01 The Gothic Vision examines a broad range of tales of horror terror the uncanny and the supernatural spanning the late eighteenth century to the present and of related theoretical approaches to the realm of dark writing It argues that such narratives are objects for historical analysis due to their implication in specific ideologies while also focusing on the recurrence over time of themes of physical and psychological disintegration spectrality and monstrosity This is an excellent overview of a genre that is increasingly studied in literature film and cultural studies courses Poor Polidori David Lorne Macdonald, 1991 Macdonald offers a look at the Romantic period framed around the life of Polidori doctor novelist and student of religion the law politics and philosophy He explains how Polidori fashioned his vampire after his employer Lord Byron the aristocrat traveller and seducer a version that differs greatly from the vampire of folklore Annotation copyrighted by Book News Inc Portland OR

Theology in the Early British and Irish Gothic, 1764-1834 Sam Hirst, 2023-07-11 Theology in the Early British and

Irish Gothic 1764 1832 reassesses the relationship between contemporary theology and the Gothic Investigating Gothic aesthetics depictions of the supernatural and portrayals of religious organisations it explores how the Gothic engages with contemporary theologies both Dissenting and Anglican Moving away from the emphasis on either a monolithic Protestantism or on the Gothic as a secular mode it shows the ways in which the Gothic exploration of the transcendent and the obscure cannot be separated from the diverse theologies of its day The project maps how the Gothic not only reflects but actively engages in the theological debates and controversies contemporary to its efflorescence Melmoth the Wanderer Charles Robert Maturin, 1977

Metaphors of Confinement Monika Fludernik, 2019 Metaphors of Confinement The Prison in Fact Fiction and Fantasy offers a historical survey of imaginings of the prison as expressed in carceral metaphors in a range of texts about imprisonment from Antiquity to the present as well as non penal situations described as confining or restrictive These imaginings coalesce into a carceral imaginary that determines the way we think about prisons just as social debates about punishment and criminals feed into the way carceral imaginary develops over time Examining not only English language prose fiction but also poetry and drama from the Middle Ages to postcolonial particularly African literature the book juxtaposes literary and non literary contexts and contrasts fictional and nonfictional representations of imprisonment and discussions about the prison as institution and experiential reality It comments on present day trends of punitivity and foregrounds the ethical dimensions of penal punishment The main argument concerns the continuity of carceral metaphors through the centuries despite historical developments that included major shifts in policy such as the invention of the penitentiary The study looks at selected carceral metaphors often from two complementary perspectives such as the home as prison or the prison as home or the factory as prison and the prison as factory The case studies present particularly relevant genres and texts that employ these metaphors often from a historical perspective that analyses development through different periods
