one of the first cultural tourism economies in the United States changed the Mississippi landscape through historic preservation and fashioned elements of the Lost Cause into an industry Beginning with the first Natchez Spring Pilgrimage of Antebellum Homes in 1932 such women as Katherine Grafton Miller Roane Fleming Byrnes and Edith Wyatt Moore challenged the notion that smokestack industries were key to Natchez s prosperity These women developed a narrative of graceful living and aristocratic gentlepeople centered on grand but decaying mansions In crafting this pageantry they created a tourism magnet based on the antebellum architecture of Natchez Through their determination and political guile they enlisted New Deal programs such as the WPA Writers Project and the Historic American Buildings Survey to promote their version of the city Their work did save numerous historic buildings and employed both white and African American workers during the Depression Still the transformation of Natchez into a tourist draw came at a racial cost and further marginalized African American Natchezians By attending to the history of preservation in Natchez Kapp draws on a rich archive of images architectural documents and popular culture to explore how meaning is assigned to place and how meaning evolves over time In showing how and why the Natchez buildings of the Old South were first preserved commercialized and transformed into a brand this volume makes a much needed contribution to ongoing debates over the meaning attached to cultural patrimony
