

Psalm 91 Prayer

*Whoever dwells in the shelter of the Most High will rest in the shadow of the Almighty.
I will say of the Lord, "He is my refuge and my fortress,
my God, in whom I trust."
Surely he will save you
from the fowler's snare
and from the deadly pestilence.
He will cover you with his feathers,
and under his wings you will find refuge;
his faithfulness will be your shield and rampart.
You will not fear the terror of night,
nor the arrow that flies by day,
nor the pestilence that stalks in the darkness,
nor the plague that destroys at midday.
A thousand may fall at your side,
ten thousand at your right hand,
but it will not come near you.
You will only observe with your eyes
and see the punishment of the wicked.
If you say, "The Lord is my refuge,"
and you make the Most High your dwelling,
no harm will overtake you,
no disaster will come near your tent.
For he will command his angels concerning you
to guard you in all your ways;
they will lift you up in their hands,
so that you will not strike your foot against a stone.
You will tread on the lion and the cobra;
you will trample the great lion and the serpent.
"Because he has loved me," says the Lord, "I will rescue him;
I will protect him, for he acknowledges my name.
He will call on me, and I will answer him;
I will be with him in trouble,
I will deliver him and honor him.
With long life I will satisfy him
and show him my salvation."*

Studies in Hebrew and Ugaritic Psalms Yitshak Avishur,1994 The volume offers a fresh analysis of a central problem of comparative Ugaritic Biblical scholarship the relationship between biblical psalms and Canaanite literature A critical survey summarizes the various stages of comparative scholarship over more than fifty years There follow the two principal parts of the book the first concerns Hebrew psalms with affinities to Ugaritic literature and the second Ugaritic psalms and prayers with affinities to Hebrew literature A detailed analysis of the form structure themes and motifs of biblical texts and a scrutiny of their verses cola phrases and vocabulary against the background of ancient Near East literature lead to the thesis that there is no justification for assuming that Canaanite psalms are found in the Bible or that biblical literature and Ugaritic literature should be considered a single entity It is alleged that affinities may be elucidated based on common thematic linguistic and stylistic elements
