A New Deal for Native Art Jennifer McLerran, 2022-08-16 As the Great Depression touched every corner of America the New Deal promoted indigenous arts and crafts as a means of bootstrapping Native American peoples But New Deal administrators romanticization of indigenous artists predisposed them to favor pre industrial forms rather than art that responded to contemporary markets In A New Deal for Native Art Jennifer McLerran reveals how positioning the native artist as a pre modern Other served the goals of New Deal programs and how this sometimes worked at cross purposes with promoting native self sufficiency She describes federal policies of the 1930s and early 1940s that sought to generate an upscale market for Native American arts and crafts And by unraveling the complex ways in which commodification was negotiated and the roles that producers consumers and New Deal administrators played in that process she sheds new light on native art's commodity status and the artist's position as colonial subject In this first book to address the ways in which New Deal Indian policy specifically advanced commodification and colonization McLerran reviews its multi pronged effort to improve the market for Indian art through the Indian Arts and Crafts Board arts and crafts cooperatives murals museum exhibits and Civilian Conservation Corps projects Presenting nationwide case studies that demonstrate transcultural dynamics of production and reception she argues for viewing Indian art as a commodity as part of the national economy and as part of national political trends and reform efforts McLerran marks the contributions of key individuals from John Collier and Rene d Harnoncourt to Navajo artist Gerald Nailor whose mural in the Navajo Nation Council House conveyed distinctly different messages to outsiders and tribal members Featuring dozens of illustrations A New Deal for Native Art offers a new look at the complexities of folk art revivals as it opens a new window on the Indian New Deal

Plundered Skulls and Stolen Spirits Chip Colwell,2017-03-08 A leading anthropologist explores the fraught project of repatriating Native American sacred objects in this moving and thoughtful work Publishers Weekly Who own the objects that connect us to history And who has the right to decide particularly when the objects are sacred or in the case of skeletal remains human As senior curator of anthropology at the Denver Museum of Nature Science Chip Colwell has navigated questions like these firsthand In Plundered Skulls and Stolen Spirits he examines how to weigh the religious freedom of Native Americans against the academic freedom of scientists and whether the emptying of museum shelves elevates human rights or destroys a common heritage Today hundreds of tribes use the Native American Graves Protection and Repatriation Act to recover their looted heritage from museums across the country Colwell shares a personal account of this process following the trail of four objects as they were created collected and ultimately returned to their sources a sculpture that is a living god the scalp of a massacre victim a ceremonial blanket and a skeleton from a tribe considered by some to be extinct These stories reveal a dramatic process that involves not merely obeying the law but negotiating the blurry lines between identity and morality spirituality and politics Repatriation Colwell argues is a difficult but vitally important way for museums and tribes to heal the wounds of the past while creating a respectful approach to caring for these rich artifacts of history

First Invaders Alan Twigg,2004 This unprecedented volume about British Columbia s earliest authors and first explorers prior to 1800 provides a fascinating range of characters events and intrigues The names Cook and Quadra ring a bell for most of us as do Bering and Vancouver but what about the first year round European resident of B C the Irish drunkard John Mackay He voluntarily wintered at Nootka Sound in 1786 well before the more famous John Jewitt became the so called white slave of Chief Maquinna in 1803 A year later the first European woman to visit and write about British Columbia was the eighteen year old bride Frances Barkley She circumnavigated the globe with her husband after making a lasting impression with her long red hair at Friendly Cove in 1787 And how much do we know about the Greek born navigator Juan de Fuca Or the Machiavelli of the maritime fur trade John Meares More than 50

pre nineteenth century characters are presented each with his or her own entry and bibliography Alan Twigg has researched and skilfully introduced the first people to write about the west coast of Canada provided extracts gathered images taken photographs and let the composite story unravel like a mini series First Invaders concludes with Alexander Mackenzie and his over land trek to the Pacific in 1793 after providing ample coverage of the many lesser known Spaniards and Americans who arrived in the wake of Captain James Cook in 1778 and Captain Juan P rez the discoverer of British Columbia in 1774
