Mandelstam Variations David Morley, 1993 The Idea of North Peter Davidson, 2005-04-15 While a compass might tell us which direction we are going there is really only one direction to which it ever points north North is the ultimate point of orientation but it is also a celebrated destination for the adventurous the curious the solitary and the foolhardy In this fascinating book updated in this accessible pocket edition Peter Davidson explores the concept of north through its many manifestations in painting legend and literature Arctic bound Davidson takes the reader on a journey from the heart of society to the most far flung outposts of human geography packing in our rucksacks a treasure trove of stories and artworks from the Icelandic Sagas to Nabokov's snowy kingdom of Zembla from Hans Christian Andersen's forbidding Snow Queen to the works of artists such as Eric Ravilious Ian Hamilton Finlay and Andy Goldsworthy He celebrates the different ways our artists and writers have illuminated our relationship with the earth's most dangerous and austere terrain Through Davidson's astonishing but inviting erudition we ultimately come to see north as a permanent goal frozen forever on a horizon we never seem to quite reach Lanthanum Henry Gould, 2012 LANTHANUM is a long poem which emerged out of an unusual dream featuring the Gateway Arch Monument in St Louis Missouri The Georgia Review , 1992 Substantial Proofs of Being Charles Isenberg, 1987 Orbis , 1992 Dictionary Catalog of the Research Libraries of the New York Public Library, 1911-1971 New York Public Library. Research Libraries, 1979 Mandelstam's First Five Published Poems Darlene Lynn Reddaway, 1990 PN Review , 1995 The Invisible Kings David Morley, 2007 Who are the invisible kings Why do two bears follow them round Britain And what happens when a gypsy's curse comes miraculously to life David Morley's new book reveals extraordinary worlds where the real and imagined converge in stories and charms just this side of science and magic When David Morley's Romani poems first appeared in the London Review of Books and PN Review the strangeness of the language and their narrative power convinced readers that here was a genuinely new imaginative world Partly Romani himself the poet follows and remakes a tradition of weaving stories from the conflicts in his own culture and that of the Roma The personal poems that open the collection develop into a traveller's eye view of England and Europe as stages for war passion and betrayal Never before has a writer made such daring and beautiful use of the Romani language as a vehicle for contemporary poetry nor has a Romani poem achieved the devastating epic scope of Kings the central narrative of the collection The Invisible Kings continues a cycle of poems that began with David Morley's Scientific Papers and which will conclude with An Island Blown Inland Stand Magazine , 2000 The New Lake Poets William Scammell, 1991 William Scammell's wide ranging anthology of contemporary Cumbrian poets starts with Norman Nicholson 1914 87 The other writers in the book share his commitment to poetry and loyalty to a place which has shown itself friendly to the meditative individual voice David Wright and Geoffrey Holloway are the older more established Cumbrian writers The middle generation includes the witty Christopher Pilling the wry Meg Peacocke and the richly humanist Neil Curry as well as William

Scammell himself Patricia Pogson's poetry shows an emotional tact while David Scott one of a long line of country poet priests is a master of quiet understatement Elizabeth Delmore and David Lindley write a lucid traditional poetry responding very directly to people and places Mick North celebrates rural lives of hard toil in language of similar toughness while David Morley is a maverick scientist poet The younger poets are Annie Foster Maggie Hannan Charles McDonald Peter Rafferty and Ben Scammell
