Not Reformed At All:

Not Reformed at All John William Robbins, Sean Gerety, 2004-01-01 This is a response to and refutation of Douglas Wilson's book Reformed Is Not Enough: Recovering the Objectivity of the Covenant. Wilson is a spokesman for both the Classical Christian school movement and the Neolegalist movement which makes one's salvation depend on one's performance. In his book Reformed Is Not Enough, Wilson invents a new covenant which he calls the objective covenant and denies the Covenant of Grace taught in Scripture. Eternal Blessedness for All? Anette I. Hagan, 2013-04-26 Eternal blessedness for all. This work shows how the acclaimed father of modern theology Friedrich Schleiermacher brilliantly approached this problem. It took many twists and turns of historical and philosophically minded analyses, however, for him to get to a theologically appropriate answer. This book unpacks those efforts in manageable form based on a close examination of a pivotal 1819 essay On the Doctrine of Election, his masterpiece. Christian Faith sermons and other related sources. Schleiermacher was the first modern theologian of stature to endorse the universal restoration of all humanity. This study also displays the historical, ecumenical, and doctrinal contexts in which his views were fashioned. It takes a careful look at the contemporary reception of his heterodox universalist reinterpretation of the traditional Reformed doctrine of double predestination and of Lutheran alternatives, showing that his public stance was in fact rather ambiguous for reasons made clear here. Finally, it examines reasons for his failure to convince contemporary theologians and concludes with an assessment of his interpretation of the doctrine of the one eternal divine decree of universal election in view of current interests in theology.
