Abstract

This study discusses the collaborative governance model on the guidance of terrorist parolees, a case study in the Surakarta Parole Office. Terrorism is an international issue defined as a criminal act intended to openly provoke and deliver terror committed by a certain group of people or for specific political purposes. Collaboration among various actors is needed to deal with terrorism. As part of the Corrections, Parole Offices are tasked with guiding terrorist Parolees to reintegrate into society. The collaboration in the guidance of terrorist parolees by the Parole Office with stakeholders is not yet optimal. This study aims to discover the factors causing it, using a qualitative method with a descriptive approach. Based on the data analysis, collaborative governance in the guidance of terrorist Parolees at the Surakarta Parole Office has not run optimally due to several factors based on four dimensions of the collaborative governance model of Ansell and Gash (2007), namely Starting Conditions, Collaborative Process, Facilitative Leadership, Institutional Design, and Outcome. To optimize collaboration in guidance of terrorist Parolees, this study offers a collaborative governance model based on the development of Ansell and Gash' collaborative governance model. This model offers collaborative guidance carried out integratively by relevant multi-actors. In addition, this model also expands the function of institutional design and facilitative leadership dimensions, which function not only in the collaborative process but also in the starting condition dimension.

Keywords: Collaborative governance, Correctional, Parolee Guidance, Terrorism

INTRODUCTION

Terrorism is defined as criminal acts intended or calculated to provoke a state of terror in the general public, a group of persons or particular persons for political purposes are in any circumstance unjustifiable, whatever the considerations of a political, philosophical, ideological, racial, ethnic, religious or any other nature that may be invoked to justify them (United Nations General Assembly, 2005). Terrorism raised international concern, particularly after the attack on the World Trade Centre in New York, United States of America, on 11 September 2001. The attack developed into a world issue due to the policies issued to combat terrorism, known as The Global War on Terrorism (Wuryandari, 2014).
