Power Struggle An Autobiographical Confession:

Power Struggle Richard L. Rubenstein, 1974 In this extraordinarily honest and profoundly moving autobiography of one of America's foremost theologians Richard Rubenstein probes deeply into his own life history in order to examine the nature of religion and understand how the emotions give birth to religious ideology He uses his own life story to examine why people become clergymen and he concludes that they do because they want power an identification with an overwhelming power greater than anything on earth He quotes James Joyce's description of the priest in Portrait of the Artist No king or emperor on this earth has the power of the priest of God No angel or archangel in heaven no saint not even the Blessed Birgin herself has the power With great intensity Rubenstein probes his own personality to get at the roots of the feelings that led to this desire for power Rubenstein grew up in a family of non religious Jews during the Depression at a time when anti Semitism was omnipresent He first decided to become a Unitarian minister then he switched to Reform Judaism and studied to be a Reform rabbi and then he became ultra orthodox imposing the most rigid controls of Jewish law on himself to keep in check the lawlessness he felt within his own soul But eventually Rubenstein found that he could no longer believe in the God who had sent millions of Jews to death in concentration camps Along with other prominent death of God theologians he has tried to construct a new religious life not out of the ashes of the old but out of the needs of the individual out of what he has learned about his own self in relation to his parents and his children his teachers and above all out of his relationships with women in two marriages one that failed disastrously and one that is now successful The story of his struggle spiritual and emotional makes a complex and richly moving books a confession in the great religious tradition and a major contribution to modern religious thought Publisher The Holy Land in History and Thought Moshe Sharon, 2023-08-14 The Autobiography of a Tibetan Monk Palden Gyatso, 2015-12-15 With this memoir by a simple monk who spent 33 years in prisons and labor camps for resisting the Chinese a rare Tibetan voice is heard The New York Times Book Review Palden Gyatso was born in a Tibetan village in 1933 and became an ordained Buddhist monk at eighteen just as Tibet was in the midst of political upheaval When Communist China invaded Tibet in 1950 it embarked on a program of reform that would eventually affect all of Tibet's citizens and nearly decimate its ancient culture In 1967 the Chinese destroyed monasteries across Tibet and forced thousands of monks into labor camps and prisons Gyatso spent the next twenty five years of his life enduring interrogation and torture simply for the strength of his beliefs Palden Gyatso's story bears witness to the resilience of the human spirit and to the strength of Tibet's proud civilization faced with cultural genocide To readers of this memoir however untraveled Tibet will never again seem remote or unfamiliar Gyatso reminds us that the language of suffering is universal Library Journal Has the ring of undeniable truth Palden Gyatso's clear sighted eloquence in Tsering Shakya's fluent translation makes his tale even more engrossing San Francisco Chronicle Jewish Autobiographies and Biographies David S. Zubatsky, 1989 A Theology of the Cross Charles B. Cousar, 1990-05-01 In Paul's epistles the crucifixion story reveals a God who is free and in no way bound by human categories or expectations Yet God in Christ chooses to be engaged in the very depths of the human predicament The message of the crucifixion is that God's power is manifested in weakness not in strength The author believes that this weakness as strength should be the focal point of the church's identity However a celebration of weakness is in complete opposition to traditional American beliefs in personal strength and a powerful church

Jewish Affairs, 1992      Masao Abe Donald William Mitchell, 1998 Through stories anti recollections 35 leading intellectual figures explore Abe's encounter with the West including his work on interfaith dialogue as a basis for world peace as well as his comparative philosophical scholarship over the past thirty years      Israel and Palestine - Out of the Ashes Marc H. Ellis, 2002-10-20 New expanded edition of a classic anthropology title that examines ethnicity as a dynamic and shifting aspect of social relations      Feminist Politics Deborah Orr, 2007 The essays in Feminist Politics contest some of the prevailing conceptualizations of identity and difference as well as the functions of these concepts in feminist political discourse and praxis Doing so they amply demonstrate that issues of identity and difference have a central place in contemporary feminist scholarship The authors of these essays have worked to develop new ways of understanding and living out differences which will both preserve and celebrate them while also fostering the necessary conditions for opening dialogue and forming new coalitions The intent of these efforts has been to thereby engender imaginative new strategies for the personal spiritual and sociopolitical changes that will enable human growth wellbeing and flourishing While the focus of the work represented here is understandably on women the issues that are raised are given additional urgency explicitly in some of the papers and implicitly in others by the situation of their concerns in the context of the world created by the Bush administration Because that administration has foregrounded issues of identity and difference in ways that are not only inhumane and often inaccurate but dangerous for all of us the new ways of thinking and acting that are proposed here have a much broader application Thus these papers truly invite not only feminists but all people to move in new directions Taken as a whole this volume represents cutting edge thinking from an international perspective in these important and pressing areas for feminist research and praxis      Art/literature/religion Robert Detweiler, 1983      The Holocaust and Antisemitism Jocelyn Hellig, 2003-02 This lucid and thought provoking introduction examines the roots of hatred towards Jewish people and culture from a unique interfaith perspective      Judaica Americana Nathan M. Kaganoff, 1995 7 427 items A cumulative edition of the 58 bibliographical lists published in the periodical of the American Jewish Historical Society Contains books and articles most of them in English dealing with the history of Jews in North America and in Latin America See the subject index for items on antisemitism      Struggle for the Jewish Mind Jacob Neusner, 1988 Noted scholar Jacob Neusner records skirmishes in an ongoing battle within the field of Judaic Studies between ethnic and academic scholars On the one side Neusner argues ethnic scholars assume the interest in and importance of the Jewish and Judaic data and regard incremental erudition whether or not formed for a purpose as self evidently interesting On the other side academic scholars address issues of humanistic learning and treat the Jewish or Judaic data as exemplary of broader issues in the humanities and social sciences Taken together the skirmishes constitute a widening gap between these two academies on the essential question of how to conduct scholarship about the Jews and Judaism By bringing together book reviews and essays of debate Professor Neusner addresses the works of colleagues and critics and presents as a whole a corpus of criticism Co published with Studies in Judaism

The New York Times Book Review ,1974-10 A Portrait of the American Jewish Community Norman Linzer,David J. Schnall,Jerome A. Chanes,1998-05-30 This comprehensive look at the Jewish American community at the turn of the 21st century explores the many issues emERICAN Jews and their organizations are confronting and shows how the Jewish community responds so as to remain a distinct entity while also becoming a part of the larger American culture The contributors investigate the complex issues facing the American Jewish community in 12 areas that are at the heart of the Jewish communal enterprise This work will be of interest to students and scholars of Jewish studies and interfaith studies to professionals in social work and social services and to anyone interested in American communal dynamics
