Regulating Reproduction Emily Jackson, 2001-10-10 This new book provides a clear and accessible analysis of the various ways in which human reproduction is regulated

Regulating Reproduction Melanie Latham, 2002 Regulating Reproduction examines the genesis of reproductive rights in Britain and France over the course of the 20th Century Melanie Latham concentrates on the role played by the various interest groups involved in the area of reproduction namely medical professionals religious groups and feminists using the Policy Network Theory on interest group behavior Latham combines legal analysis with political analysis and offers a cross cultural perspective

Regulating Reproduction Robert H. Blank, 1992-10-16 Examines the social context and current state of reproductive mediating technologies such as artificial insemination in vitro fertilization surrogate motherhood sex preselection DNA probes prenatal diagnosis and sterilization

Regulating Reproduction Lynn M. Thomas, 1997 Genetic and Epigenetic Regulation of Insect Development, Reproduction, and Phenotypic Plasticity Wei Guo, S. Reddy Palli, Fei Li, Zhongxia Wu, 2022-02-10

Regulating Creation Trudo Lemmens, Andrew Flavell Martin, Ian B. Lee, Cheryl Milne, 2017-01-23 In 2004 the Assisted Human Reproduction Act was passed by the Parliament of Canada Fully in force by 2007 the act was intended to safeguard and promote the health safety dignity and rights of Canadians However a 2010 Supreme Court of Canada decision ruled that key parts of the act were invalid Regulating Creation is a collection of essays built around the 2010 ruling Featuring contributions by Canadian and international scholars it offers a variety of perspectives on the role of law in dealing with the legal ethical and policy issues surrounding changing reproductive technologies In addition to the in depth analysis of the Canadian case the volume reflects on how other countries particularly the U S U K and New Zealand regulate these same issues Combining a detailed discussion of legal approaches with an in depth exploration of societal implications Regulating Creation deftly navigates the obstacles of legal policy amidst the rapid current of reproductive technological innovation

Regulating Reproduction Marsha Garrison, 2008 Can should the United States abandon the laissez faire market based approach to reproductive technology in favor of a regulatory model This article argues that regulation is permissible and that it is sometimes desirable It also lays out a framework for developing regulatory standards that relies on related areas of law arguing that because we permit adult patients to undergo risky experimental treatments we should permit adult ART patients to accept similar risks or adopt uniform rules that proscribe the use of experimental treatments in both contexts because we allow would be parents to abort fetuses with undesirable characteristics we should allow would be parents who utilize ART to select out unwanted fetuses with undesirable characteristics or adopt rules that uniformly forbids some or all trait selection because we do not allow parents to subject their children to serious medical risks we should not allow would be parents using ART to subject their future children to serious medical risks and because we outlaw commercialism in transfers of body parts and human beings we should outlaw commercialism in transfers of sperm and ova or uniformly permit commercialism The article concludes that because ART involves complex rapidly evolving medical procedures a quasi public regulatory entity like that which the federal government has already established in the area of organ transplantation appears to be the most promising regulatory structure and one that fits well within the decentralized U S medical care system Regulating Reproductive Donation Susan Golombok,2016-04 Brings together different disciplinary perspectives and new empirical insights to explore the regulation of assisted reproduction around the world Regulating Autonomy Shelley Day Sclater,Fatemeh Ebtehaj,Emily Jackson,Martin Richards,2009-03-04 These essays explore the nature and limits of individual autonomy in law policy and the work of regulatory agencies Biomedical Index to PHS-supported Research ,1988
