Reproductive Technologies A Reader:

Reproductive Technologies Thomas A. Shannon, 2004 Over a decade ago the field of bioethics was established in response to the increased control over the design of living organisms afforded by both medical genetics and biotechnology As part of the Readings in Bioethics series this volume collects critical essays by leading scholars on reproductive technologies abortion in vitro fertilization prenatal diagnosis and cloning Visit our website for sample chapters

Reproductive Technologies, 1991 An Atlas of Human Gametes and Conceptuses Lucinda L. Veeck, 1999-04-15 Replacing and superseding all other works in this area Dr Lucinda L Veeck s An Atlas of Human Gametes and Conceptuses is the only book now in print that shows the typical and atypical morphology of human oocytes sperm and preembryos collected and cultured during the course of in vitro fertilization treatment Brilliantly illustrated with hundreds of original photographs in color as well as black and white the book also details and fully illustrates specific new reproductive technologies and provides the reader with both a glossary and a concise history of in vitro fertilization Includes bibliographic references and index

Reproductive Technologies, 1991 Fertility and Assisted Reproductive Technology (ART) Eleanor L. Stevenson, Eleanor Lowndes Stevenson, Patricia Hershberger, 2016-01-25 Delivers current knowledge from global experts at the forefront of fertility and ART healthcare The first publication of its kind this book on fertility and assisted reproductive technology ART is a globally focused authoritative guide to state of the art information about modern fertility and ART healthcare Written for clinicians public health officials women s health experts scientists students scholars and other interested individuals the book encompasses theoretical research policy and clinical practice aspects of fertility and ART healthcare The book features the diverse contributions of multidisciplinary researchers scholars and clinicians from eight countries who explore contemporary health care perspectives regarding individuals and families dealing with infertility and fertility challenges including such advanced technologies as in vitro fertilization intrauterine insemination and oocyte preservation The book addresses theoretical underpinnings of fertility and ART healthcare including new ways of conceptualizing research and theoretical concepts Practical aspects involved with administering and treating the many women and men whose lives are affected by fertility challenges are illuminated Complex policy concerns resulting from the rapid advances in fertility and ART are considered The health care needs of those seeking fertility evaluation and treatment including access to care locally and globally are examined in depth The book also includes discussions about novel approaches and emerging populations in fertility and ART healthcare that expand the scope of care Thought provoking case examples from contemporary care practices will help the reader to synthesize information Key Features Delivers thought provoking ART research and practice issues for health care clinicians scholars and scientists Synthesizes evolving theory research clinical practice and public policy concerns Addresses complex considerations within the practice and delivery of fertility and ART services Written by international thought leaders and emerging scholars on the forefront of ART

technologies and other issues Includes case study exemplars to stimulate critical thinking and transform discussion about modern fertility and ART care Reproductive Technologies and the Law Judith Daar,2006 The world of assisted reproductive technologies is a relative newcomer to the law school curriculum making its perceptible entrance only within the past two decades Yet the discipline mixing law and assisted conception seems to have established firm roots sustained by a nearly daily dose of activity somewhere around the globe The study of reproductive technologies has branched out from its founding in the late 1970s with the introduction of in vitro fertilization to a field that includes such emerging topics as posthumous reproduction embryonic stem cell research and human cloning These topics often take center stage in our political and social world making them ideal for dissection in the law school classroom Reproductive Technologies and the Law is designed to introduce our students to the essentials in science medicine law and ethics that underpin and shape each of the topics that combine to form the law of reproductive technologies As each new technology is introduced an effort is made to fully inform the reader about the clinical application of the technique that is how the procedure is used to treat patients facing infertility or produce advances in medical research Once comfortable with the science students can then contemplate the legal parameters that do or should accompany the technology Since so much of the law in this area is either nascent or wholly unformed students are free and indeed encouraged to design legal systems that meet the needs of patients parents children and society at large participants all in the world of assisted reproduction

Reader's Guide to Lesbian and Gay Studies Timothy F. Murphy,2000 A guide to existing academic literature on issues persons periods and topics important in lesbian and gay studies With a focus on book length studies in English entries offer a very brief introduction and a more detailed overview of the secondary literature including the relative merits of each source under consideration While the overall arrangement of entries is alphabetical other means of access include a booklist general indexes cross references and a thematic list African American culture AIDS art and artists Asian studies biological sciences lesbian and gay culture education family gender studies history law literature media studies medicine music performing arts politics psychology philosophy and ethics and others Annotation copyrighted by Book News Inc Portland OR

Reproductive Technologies Clay Farris Naff,2007 Is designer baby technology something we should be doing Should religion interfere in bioethics Are women who partake in egg donation processes exposing themselves to harm Editor Clay Farris Naff has compiled essays that debate these questions and more so that readers can reason through conflicting viewpoints Reproduction and Society Carole Joffe,Jennifer Reich,2025-05-30 The new edition of Reproduction and Society assembles an authoritative collection of the best scholarship on reproductive matters to help students and readers think critically and more expansively about acts of reproduction as social phenomena The social political and personal meanings of reproduction have become increasingly important and surround us in the news during elections and even within popular culture In the aftermath of the United States Supreme Court s decision to overturn a nearly 50 year old precedent guaranteeing a constitutional right to abortion these issues have become even more pressing Exploring the topic from a sociological lens and drawing on influential writing from other fields including history economics anthropology and medicine editors Carole Joffe and Jennifer Reich are assured and accessible guides as they lead readers across six core thematic areas analyzing reproductive self determination and why it matters From a reproductive justice perspective the new edition examines issues related to contraception and sterilization abortion pregnancy maternal fetal conflicts and uses of reproductive technologies Readers will encounter classical texts that have contributed to the foundation of this exciting field as well as more recent research that continues to push the field forward all in the service of sharpening their understanding of why reproductive politics have been and continue to be contentious complicated and high stakes Refreshed and significantly expanded with over two dozen new selections the second edition of this reader will have wide appeal for undergraduate and graduate students who are new to the study of reproduction both in courses that focus on the topic across different disciplines and as a supplement to courses on the family gender health care social problems and sexuality
