Organizing Through Division And Exclusion Chinas Hukou System:

Organizing Through Division and Exclusion Fei-Ling Wang, 2005-01-05 This book is the first comprehensive examination of China's hukou household registration system. The hukou system registers and governs the 1.3 billion Chinese while creating deep and rigid divisions and exclusions in many domains; the system determines how the Chinese live and shapes China's sociopolitical structure and socioeconomic development. This book shows that the system has made both positive and negative contributions to contemporary Chinese society: it has helped foster rapid economic growth and political stability but also has reinforced social stratification, the rural-urban divide, regional inequalities, and discrimination and injustice. Using rich new materials, this book traces the history and development of the hukou system. It describes the functions, impact, and operational mechanisms of the system. It also analyzes the hukou in comparison with the systems of exclusion and discrimination in other nations, notably Brazil and India. This book presents important insights for understanding China's past, present, and future.

Organizing Through Division and Exclusion Fei-Ling Wang, 2005 This is an original and comprehensive examination of China's hukou household registration system, a system that fundamentally determines the Chinese way of life and shapes China's sociopolitical structure and socioeconomic development.

Identity, Inequity and Inequality in India and China Ayo Wahlberg, 2017-07-05 This volume explores how difference is constructed, manifested, mobilised, and obscured in socially uneven societies, particularly those fuelled by neoliberal economic growth in the recent years. The book approaches difference as a double-edged concept that allows one to make sense of the tensions that are played out between cosmopolitan convergence and multicultural diversity between expanding middle classes and increasingly disenfranchised poor groups between the global and the local. The chapters in this volume present a series of empirical explorations of how difference is articulated, desired, levelled, governed, and even subverted in the socio-economically uneven landscapes of India and China. They examine how difference emerges out of daily practice, categorisation processes, dividing practices, nation-building efforts, and identity projects. Through these empirical studies, we see how difference is articulated along a number of axes: differentiations of groups or persons according to hierarchies of superiority/inferiority, the demarcation of difference as something that is potentially disruptive and therefore in need of containment, the celebration of difference as diversity, and finally, the ways in which difference comes to be internalised in the shaping of individual identities. Another common theme that binds a number of contributions is the exploration of the role of the state in constructing and controlling these differences and the ways in which these interventions rearrange the social-political landscapes. This book was published as a special issue of Third World Quarterly.

Discontented Miracle: Growth, Conflict, And Institutional Adaptations In China Dali L. Yang, 2007-05-11 China has been enjoying stellar economic growth for more than a quarter of a century. Yet the rapid growth amid market-oriented reforms has not been an unalloyed blessing. The China Miracle has been accompanied by soaring income inequality and rising social tensions over taxing China's resource base and contributing to an environmental crisis Despite substantial improvement in the standard of living and other social indicators China's leaders have in the aftermath of the Tiananmen crackdown steadfastly held back the opening up of the political system In this volume contributors from the disciplines of economics political science and sociology examine how existing institutions broadly defined might have exacerbated tensions in China's evolving economy society and polity as well as how institutional developments have been introduced to deal with existing or emerging conflicts and tensions

Rural-Urban Dichotomies and Spatial Development in Asia Amitrajeet A. Batabyal, Yoshiro Higano, Peter Nijkamp, 2021-07-01 This edited book brings together in one place new studies of rural urban interactions and their implications for regional growth and development in different regions within Asia Specifically the individual chapters in the book shed light on the different kinds of rural urban interactions that we witness in Asian regions particularly those that are based on migration poverty inequality education economic dependence and the flow of goods and services The book departs from the existing literature in three ways First it explicitly recognizes that different kinds of rural urban interactions have dissimilar impacts on the lives and hence on the welfare of the residents of rural and urban regions Second the book emphasizes the varied spatial and temporal dimensions of the interactions and the ways in which these dimensions influence rural and urban societies Third this book demonstrates the ways in which an understanding of the preceding two points contributes to our knowledge about economic growth and development Because Asia is the fastest growing and most dynamic continent in the world today the research delineated in the individual chapters of the book provides practical guidance concerning two salient questions First how do we effectively address the economic development challenges stemming from the interactions between alternate rural and urban regions within Asia Second how do we ensure that the policies we design to address these challenges give rise to broad based economic growth and development that is sustainable
