foreign born workers more or less receptive to unionization than their native born counterparts Are undocumented immigrants as likely as legal residents and naturalized citizens to join unions How much does the political cultural and ethnic background of immigrants matter What are the social political and economic conditions that facilitate immigrant unionization Drawing on newly collected evidence the contributors to this volume explore these and other questions analyzing immigrant employment and unionization trends in California and examining recent strikes and organizing efforts involving foreign born workers The case studies include both successful and unsuccessful campaigns innovative and traditional strategies and a variety of industrial and service sector settings
