Regionalism, Multilateralism, and Deeper Integration Robert Z. Lawrence, 2000-07-26 Over the past decade international economic liberalization has been pursued through both multilateral and regional arrangements In the Uruguay Round more than one hundred governments pledged their commitment to greater open trade in goods and services and established new rules under the enforcement of the World Trade Organization At the same time however many regional arrangements have been negotiated including the European Union and the North American Free Trade Agreement Nonetheless controversy still rages about these arrangements Are regional arrangements stumbling blocks or in fact building blocks for a more integrated and successful international economy In this book Robert A Lawrence addresses this question and explains both sides of the debate A volume of Brookings Integrating National Economies Series

Dynamics of Globalization and Development Satya Dev Gupta, 2012-12-06 Dynamics of Globalization and Development debates the role of structural adjustment programs and policies the implication of financial liberalization for growth and stability the effects of foreign direct investment and the associated behavior of multinationals in terms of intellectual property rights the diffusion of technology growth and development Many contributors offer innovative insights into the complexities of the process in terms of its micro foundations and propose efficiency based multinational policy frameworks A general thrust of most of the studies in this volume is that the market driven process of globalization alone will not lead to stable and equitable economic growth Consequently several contributors recommend a set of proactive policies to promote greater stability in the system and a more equitable distribution of the benefits of globalization This anthology will provide valuable insights and important background analysis for scholars working in the field of globalization as well as senior undergraduate and graduate students in a variety of curricula including economics finance development studies and
