Qualitative Methods In Aging Research:

Qualitative Methods in Aging Research Jaber F. Gubrium, Andrea Sankar, 1994 This volume of original articles by leading researchers explores the methodological possibilities and difficulties involved in doing qualitative work with the aged. The contributors illustrate with numerous examples the strengths of qualitative strategies and techniques for uncovering meaning, dissecting processes, and examining cultural and other issues of difference between people and groups. Rural Health and Aging Research Wilbert M. Gesler, Donna G. Rabiner, Gordon H. Defriese, 2019-03-19 This book describes a wide ranging set of research approaches which have been used to study the health care problems of adults living in rural areas. It shows how these approaches can be used to define health care problems, measure levels of illness and health, and evaluate health care practices. For each approach, contributors provide a theoretical background from the health care delivery literature, details of how it can be carried out in the field, its strengths and weaknesses, and illustrative examples from both the literature and their own work.

Research Design in Aging and Social Gerontology Joyce Weil, 2025-06-27 This comprehensive book provides a review across methodological approaches and data collection methods commonly used with older adults in real life settings. It addresses the role of normative age related sensory, cognitive, and functional changes, as well as the influence of generational cohort, age period, cohort. Fully updated, this second edition reflects recent changes in gerontology and includes more information about equity, diversity, and inclusion, the impact of the COVID-19 pandemic, the use of virtual research methods, discussion about the researcher's reflexivity, the role of theory in research, qualitative research developments, an expansion of secondary analysis of data, and the use of artificial intelligence in research. Features include: Descriptions, evaluations, and applications of a wide range of methodological approaches and methods used to collect data about older persons; quantitative, qualitative, mixed, and emergent methods; photovoice, virtual environments, etc. Ways to match research questions to selection of method without a preconceived methodological preference or dominance. Real world and applied examples along with cases from the gerontological literature. How-to sections about reading output, software reports, and qualitative analysis screenshots from NVivo and quantitative SPSS output and interpretation. Pedagogical tools in every chapter such as text boxes, case studies, definitions of key terms, discussion questions, and references for further reading on chapter topics. Glossary of key terms, complete sample research report, and an overview of past methodological research design work in gerontology. This text is intended for upper level undergraduates and masters students in aging and gerontology, as well as students in human development, applied anthropology, psychology, public health, sociology, and social work settings. Healthcare professionals, social workers, and care managers who work with older adults will also find this text a valuable resource. At www.routledge.com/cw/weil instructors will find PowerPoint presentations, additional discussion questions, suggestions for in-class activities and assessments, and a sample syllabus, and students will find flashcards based on glossary terms, a downloadable copy of the sample research report, in the text links to data sets, related websites, online videos.
