World City Network Peter Taylor,Ben Derudder,2015-08-17 With the advent of multinational corporations the traditional urban service function has gone global In order to provide services to globalizing corporate clients the offices of major financial and business service firms across the world have generated networks of work It is the myriad of flows between office towers in different metropolitan centres that has produced a world city network Taylor and Derudder s unique and illuminating book provides both an update and a substantial revision of the first edition that was published in 2004 It provides a comprehensive and systematic description and analysis of the world city network as the skeleton upon which contemporary globalization has been built Through an analysis of the intra company flows of 175 leading global service firms across 526 cities in 2012 this book assesses cities in terms of their overall network connectivity the regional configurations they form and their changing position in the period 2000 12 Results are used to reflect on cities and city state relations in the context of the global ecological and economic crisis Written by two of the foremost authorities on the subject this book provides a much needed mapping of the connecting relationships between world cities and will be a valuable resource for students of urban studies geography sociology and planning

Interactions Between China's National Emissions Trading Scheme and Electricity Market: Practices and Policies Tsun Se Cheong,Xunpeng (Roc) Shi,Yongping Sun,Jian Yu,Xin Yao,2023-11-03 China s national carbon market the world s largest emissions trading scheme ETS kicked off its first online trade recently This can be called a milestone for the country towards the nation s goals of having CO2 emissions peak before 2030 and achieving carbon neutrality by 2060 China s

national ETS initially covers the power sector before being expanded to a much broader set of energy intensive industries On one hand the electricity sector the largest carbon emitting industry is responsible for about 40% of China s emissions and it has great significance to response to global climate change On the other hand the effectiveness of China s ETS will rest on how well it is coordinated with power market regulations and policies In this regard the deepening of reform as well as the advanced technology and its applications in the electricity market will add new challenges and opportunities to electricity trade which in turn influences national ETS Therefore this brings urgency to accurately capture the dynamic interactions between national ETS and electricity market to transform carbon trading into a practical and effective way to decarbonize the power sector
