

THE WINNING ROULETTE SYSTEM

by <http://www.webgoldminer.com/>

Is it possible to earn money from online gambling? Are there any 100% sure winning roulette systems? Are there actually people who make a living from gambling? The three questions have a same answer – yes.

1. Choosing a better online casino.

Every online casino has a specific payout. An online casino payout is a number that is calculated from monthly statistics usually by a third party auditing firm. The payout value describes how much of the casino's monthly turnaround returns to players and how much is kept by casino. It is calculated from actual casino software logs for all games played in the casino during the past month. As all casino games are precisely balanced from statistical viewpoint the payout dynamics comes from elsewhere and casinos with highest payout ratios are more attractive to the players because players have better chance to win. The payouts at the different online casinos vary from 95% to about 99%. For example: an online casino with reported 98.5% payout implies that out of (hypothetical) $1,000,000 that players wagered last month $985,000 was won back or otherwise taken by the players, leaving the casino with only $15,000. So, one of the things that you always must look for is the casino's payout. The bigger the better. The fair too, because there is always a chance to be deceived from a casino with no declared payout.

2. Introduction to the Roulette game.

The Roulette is the most fair casino game (from the games that you play against the casino of course). Why? Because of the bet payoffs, which are the same for all roulettes in every casino and the efficient value – (chance to win the betting)  $\times$  (payoff coefficient). This efficient value in one slot game for example is much smaller (vary from 30% to 90% according to the slot machine type) than the roulettes' (which vary from 92.1% to 94.7%). As you know the roulette has 38 numbers – 0, 00, 1, 2, 3 ... 35, 36.

The chance to win a betting is formed by the ratio – (count of the numbers you have chosen as your bet) / 38. For example: You make a four-number bet (28, 29, 31, 32). Your chance to win this betting is:  $4 / 38 = 0,105$  or 10,5%.

Payoff 2 to 1 means a payoff coefficient 3. For example: You make a column bet and you put 100$ in chips on one of the three columns. If you win, you take your 100$ plus 200$ (because the payoff is 2 to 1). This makes 300$. The payoff coefficient forms from the ratio – money after possible win / staked money or in this case:  $300 / 100 = 3$ . You can receive this coefficient in one other way too – simply replace in the payoff phrase "to" with "+" (2 to 1 = 2 + 1 = 3).
