Close Relationships Clyde Hendrick, 2000 The authors in the volume extend the reach of their comprehensive reviews into theoretically driven and innovating explorations The scope of coverage across and within chapters is striking The developmentalist the methodologist the feminist the contextualist and the cross culturalist alike will find satisfaction in reading the chapters Catherine A. Surra The University of Texas at Austin The science of close relationships is relatively new and complex Close Relationships: A Sourcebook represents the growing maturity of this multidisciplinary enterprise The volume offers 26 chapters organized into four thematic areas relationship methods forms processes and threats as well as a foreword and an epilogue The volume provides a panoramic view of close relationship research as it enters the 21st century offering highlights from current literature original research practical applications and projections for future research Relationship Methods includes both qualitative and quantitative chapters Relationship Forms includes many of the stages types and roles that characterize intimate relationships In a developmental fashion chapters address social networks children's friendships adolescent relationships adult friendships and friendships in later life Chapters on multicultural and multiracial relationships and gay lesbian and bisexual relationships illustrate the variety of relationship forms that the science of close relationships must consider The alignments and realignments of traditional family structure are considered in terms of contemporary marriage divorce and single parenting and remarried families Relationship Processes includes chapters on emotion attachment romantic love sexuality intimacy communication conflict social support and relational maintenance The important topic of gender concludes the section The shadow side of human nature is explored in the Relationship Threats section with chapters on infidelity and jealousy physical and sexual aggression depression and loss and bereavement A foreword by Ellen Berscheid sets the stage for this broad ranging collection of chapters Steve Duck and Linda Acitelli conclude with an epilogue that provides a new beginning for the science of close relationships

Handbook of Child Psychology and Developmental Science, Socioemotional Processes, 2015-03-31 The essential reference for human development theory updated and reconceptualized The Handbook of Child Psychology and Developmental Science a four volume reference is the field defining work to which all others are compared First published in 1946 and now in its Seventh Edition the Handbook has long been considered the definitive guide to the field of developmental science Volume 3 Social Emotional and Personality Development presents up to date knowledge and theoretical understanding of these several facets of social emotional and personality processes The volume emphasizes that any specific processes function or behavior discussed in the volume co occurs alongside and is inextricably affected by the dozens of other processes functions or behaviors that are the focus of other researchers work As a result the volume underscores the importance of a focus on the whole developing child and his or her sociocultural and historical environment Understand the multiple processes that are interrelated in personality development Discover the individual cultural social and economic processes that contribute to the social emotional and personality development of individuals Learn about the several individual and contextual contributions to the development of such facets of the individual as morality spirituality or aggressive violent behavior Study the processes that contribute to the development of gender sexuality motivation and social engagement The scholarship within this volume and as well across the four volumes of this edition illustrate that developmental science is in the midst of a very exciting period There is a paradigm shift that involves increasingly greater understanding of how to describe explain and optimize the course of human life for diverse individuals living within diverse contexts This Handbook is the definitive reference for educators policy makers researchers students and practitioners in human development psychology sociology anthropology and neuroscience

Development and Vulnerability in Close Relationships Gil G. Noam, Kurt W. Fischer, 2013-06-17 How do people develop in their important relationships How do two people come together to form a new close relationship How do relationships affect or determine who we are and who we become These questions should be central to the study of mind and development but most researchers neglect relationships and focus instead on analyses of individuals as if people were basically alone experiencing occasional fleeting moments with other people Research based on this individualist assumption has dominated the behavioral and clinical sciences but there are other voices and they are growing In this book many of the scholars who are moving relationships and attachments back to the center of human development outline their central concepts findings and perspectives People are fundamentally social and relationships are part of the fabric of being human forming an essential foundation that molds each person's mind and action A mind does not reside in one person but in relationships and communities composed of many people's interconnected minds which mutually support and define each other From the start and throughout life each person develops strengths and vulnerabilities in important relationships in communities and cultures Those relationships are so central to each person's activity and experience that without them no scientific explanation can even begin to analyze mind and action There is no mind without other people There is no psychological vulnerability that does not involve others The contributors to this book aim to establish a firm foundation for the role of relationships in human activity and health and to promote strong research by bringing together in one place most of the best research and theory on development and relationships Their goal is to stimulate a more radical inclusion of relationships in mind an ecological focus on the ways that relationships constitute action feeling and thought Adult Development Jan D. Sinnott, 2014-07-08 Relationships especially close relationships are among the most important aspects of life for most of us Close relationships reach to the very heart of our happiness but exactly what processes or skills over the course of a lifetime help us learn to relate to one another more and more deeply and to grow past the differences and problems that might divide us Adult Development applies the concept of complex postformal thought in order to explore how certain cognitive processes support individuals close relationships such that those relationships grow stronger and richer over time Complex postformal thought allows a person to deal with everyday logical contradictions by letting that person understand that reality and meaning are co created In this way postformal thought enables adults to bridge two contradictory but logical positions and reach an adaptive synthesis of them through a higher order logic Taking this inquiry a step further Sinnott examines the role played by postformal thought in intimate relationships those between spouses partners parents and children siblings and close friends Sinnott argues that postformal thought seems to develop later in life and is somewhat akin to the concept of wisdom Based on 30 years of research this book diverges from typical contributions to this field by discussing positive adult development in the context of close relationships Rather than focusing on the emergence of deficits of adulthood and particularly aging Sinnott instead explores the cognitive processes that are important in creating and sustaining close ongoing relationships

The Developmental Course of Romantic Relationships Brian G. Ogolsky, Sally A. Lloyd, Rodney M. Cate, 2013-07-18 Recipient of the 2014 International Association for Relationship Researchers Book Award This multidisciplinary text highlights the development of romantic relationships from initiation to commitment or demise by highlighting the historical context current research and theory and diversity of patterns Engagingly written with colorful examples the authors examine the joy stress power struggles intimacy and aggression that characterize these relationships Readers gain a better understanding as to why even after the pain and suffering associated with a breakup most of us go right back out and start again Relationships are examined through an interdisciplinary lens psychological sociological environmental and communicative perspectives are all considered End of chapter summaries lists of key concepts and additional readings serve as a review As a whole the book explores what precipitates success or failure of these relationships and how this has changed over time Highlights of the book s coverage Incorporates both cross sex and same sex romantic relationships Examines the roles of gender race class culture age and sexuality in relationship development Looks at multiple types of romantic relationships in emerging adulthood including dating and cohabitation Explores both positive and negative relational processes Analyzes the latest and most important scholarship The book opens with an introduction followed by a historical overview of the development of relationships Next relationship development models are examined including the influence of social factors and the interaction of the partners involved This volume examines how partners initiate romantic relationships including infatuation sexual attraction and the impact of technology how cohabitation affects the quality of the future of the relationship and the individual social and circumstantial factors that predict stability or break ups in romantic relationships The book ends with an examination of the dark side of relationships and suggestions for future research on romantic pairings Intended as a supplement for advanced undergraduate or graduate courses in marriage and family personal close intimate relationships or interpersonal family communication taught in human development and family studies psychology social work sociology communication counseling and therapy this book also appeals to researchers and practitioners interested in the romantic relationship processes
