Maria Chapdelaine French Language Edition:

Maria Chapdelaine Louis Hémon, 1921 A new edition of Louis Hémon's classic romance novel set in rural French Canada. Maria Chapdelaine: A Tale of Lake St. John Country originally published in French in 1913. Maria Chapdelaine is the story of the titular Maria who after the man she loves dies must choose between two suitors and two ways of life: one in the big city, the other in the countryside. Written with a French and Quebecois adolescent audience in mind, Maria Chapdelaine has become a mainstay of school curricula both in its original French and in translation and has been extensively analyzed and adapted to stage and screen. Maria Chapdelaine Louis Hémon, 2007-04-30 Maria Chapdelaine, the quintessential novel of the rugged life of early French Canadian colonists, is based on the author's experiences as a hired hand in the Saguenay-Lac Saint-Jean area. A young woman living with her family on the Quebec frontier, Maria endures the hardships of isolation and climate. Maria must eventually choose between three suitors who represent very different ways of life: a trapper, a farmer, and a Parisian immigrant. Powerful in its simplicity, this novel captures the essence of faith and tenacity, the key ingredients of survival. Translated into many languages, Maria Chapdelaine is enshrined as a classic of Canadian letters. A new introduction by Michael Gnarowski examines its relevance and provides insights into Louis Hémon's life. The International Interpreter, 1922 Backwoodsmen as Ecocritical Motif in French Canadian Literature Anne Rehill, 2016-08-30 In New France and early Canada, young men who ventured into the forest to hunt and trade with Amerindians, coureurs de bois (runners of the woods), later traveling in big teams of canoes, voyageurs were known for their independence. Often described as half-wild themselves, they linked the European and Indian societies, eventually helping to form a new culture with elements of both. From an ecocritical perspective, they represent both negative and positive aspects of the human historical trajectory because, in addition to participating in the environmentally abusive fur trade, they also symbolize the way forward through intercultural connections and business relationships. The four novels analyzed here: Joseph-Charles Taché's Forestiers et voyageurs (1863), Louis Hémon's Maria Chapdelaine (1916), Louis Paul Desrosiers' Les Engagés du Grand Portage (1938), and Antonine Maillet's Plagie la Charrette (1979) portray the backwoodsmen operating in a collaborative mode within the realistic context of the need to make money. They entered folklore through the 19th-century literary efforts of Taché and others to construct a distinct French-Canadian national identity, then in an unstable and continually disrupted process of formation. Their entry into literature necessarily brought their Amerindian business and personal partners, thus making intercultural connections a foundation of the national identity that Taché and others strove to construct and also mirror. As figures in literature, they embody changing ideas of the self and of the cultures and ethnicities that they connect, both physically and in an abstract sense. Because constructions of self-identity result in behavior, studying this dynamic contributes to ecocritical efforts to better understand human behavior toward both ourselves and our environment. The woodsmen and their Amerindian partners occupy the intriguing position of contributing to both damage and greater acceptance of the cultural Other the latter of which holds the promise of collaboration and joint searches for sustainable solutions Thus coureurs de bois and voyageurs far from perfect models can continue to serve as guides today

Sir Andrew Macphail Ian Ross Robertson,2008-10-17 Macphail s writing characterized by clarity of expression and support for unpopular positions allowed him to develop and document many of the important political social and intellectual themes of his time He argued for the reorganization of the British Empire to reflect the growing importance of Canada and against such modern trends and movements as utilitarian education feminism industrialization and urbanization A strong advocate for the rejuvenation of rural life he carried out agricultural experiments on his native Prince Edward Island When it became apparent that it was impossible to return to rural ideals Macphail celebrated the world of his rural past in his most memorable work the posthumously published The Master s Wife

French Civilization and Its Discontents Tyler Stovall,Georges Van Den Abbeele,2003-10-22 What happens when the study of French is no longer coterminous with the study of France French Civilization and Its Discontents explores the ways in which considerations of difference especially colonialism postcolonialism and race have shaped French culture and French studies in the modern era Rejecting traditional assimilationist notions of French national identity contributors to this groundbreaking volume demonstrate how literature history and other aspects of what is considered French civilization have been shaped by global processes of creolization and differentiation This book ably demonstrates the necessity of studying France and the Francophone world together and of recognizing not only the presence of France in the Francophone world but also the central place occupied by the Francophone world in world literature and history
