Resilient Russian Women in the 1920s & 1930s Marcelline Hutton, 2015-07 The stories of Russian educated women peasants prisoners workers wives and mothers of the 1920s and 1930s show how work marriage family religion and even patriotism helped sustain them during harsh times The Russian Revolution launched an economic and social upheaval that released peasant women from the control of traditional extended families It promised urban women equality and created opportunities for employment and higher education Yet the revolution did little to eliminate Russian patriarchal culture which continued to undermine women s social sexual economic and political conditions Divorce and abortion became more widespread but birth control remained limited and sexual liberation meant greater freedom for men than for women The transformations that women needed to gain true equality were postponed by the poverty of the new state and the political agendas of leaders like Lenin Trotsky and Stalin Red Bread Maurice Gerschon Hindus, 1988 First published in 1931 and long out of print Red Bread is Russian born journalist Maurice Hindus s account of his return to his native village in 1929-30 to see for himself how Stalin s collectivization campaign was transforming the lives of the peasants among whom he had grown up in prerevolutionary times This warm and human narrative conveys in personal and immediate terms his peasant neighbors responses to being forced out of a centuries old way of life and into the unfamiliar social setting and industrialized large scale agriculture of the kolkhoz Convinced that collectivized farming would bring Russian agriculture and the Russian peasant into the modern age Hindus was nonetheless deeply troubled by the huge social cost and personal suffering inflicted by Stalin s ruthless campaign Red Bread contributes an invaluable grassroots perspective on the era s dynamism and despair to the current discussion of the Soviet historical experience in the Soviet Union and the West Annual Report ... University of Arizona.
