Failed, challenged and successful projects by each development paradigm

Comparing development paradigm effectiveness

Survey results, scale from -10 to 10 (Note that the highest point on this scale is 6.3. Why so low?)

Definitions of paradigms

Iterative development
Process is organized into periods (iterations or time boxes). On any given day team members may be gathering requirements, designing, coding, testing, and so on. An example of an iterative process is RUP.

Agile development
An iterative process which is also lightweight, highly collaborative, self-organizing, and quality focused. An example of an agile process is OpenUP, Scrum, and XP.

Lean development
Customer value-focused philosophy. A lean process strives to optimize value to the end customer, while minimizing waste which may be measured in terms of time, quality, and cost. Examples include Kanban and Scrumban.

Ad-Hoc development
On an ad-hoc software development project the team does not follow a defined process.

Traditional development
Staged process: the requirements are first identified, then the architecture/design is defined, then the coding occurs, then testing, then deployment. Often referred to as "water fall" or simply "serial" process.
