Reading Autobiography Sidonie Smith, Julia Watson, 2001 Emotions, Subjectivities, and Memories of the Hitler Youth Generation Tiia Sahrakorpi, 2025-12-11

This book examines the ways in which Germany's Hitler Youth generation has attempted to untangle its emotions and deal with questions relating to individual complicity and innocence. As the world is currently facing a new wave of fascism and misinformation, there is much to be gained from improving our understanding of how and why young people who believed far right ideologies transitioned to a new system governed by democratic values. Tiia Sahrakorpi explores how individuals not only remember but represent and negotiate contentious pasts. Drawing on an unprecedentedly large corpus of life narrative writings by the Hitler Youth Generation comprising some 50 published and 65 unpublished memoirs from North America and Germany, Emotions, Subjectivities and Memories of the Hitler Youth Generation addresses a range of themes that lie at the intersection of memory, emotion, tactical agency, and social and political change. Whilst the book focuses on the Hitler Youth generation's writings and modern Germany, in particular, its overarching goal is to provide readers with an understanding of how applying a history of emotions analysis to representations of childhood memories can offer novel insights into the histories of fascism and the Second World War.

Comics and Power Rikke Platz Cortsen, Erin La Cour, Anne Magnussen, 2015-02-05. Many introductions to comics scholarship books begin with an anecdote recounting the author's childhood experiences reading comics, thereby testifying to the power of comics to engage and impact youth. But comics and power are intertwined in a number of ways that go beyond concern for children's reading habits. Comics and Power presents very different methods of studying the complex and diverse relationship between comics and power. Divided into three sections, its 14 chapters discuss how comics interact with, reproduce, and/or challenge existing power structures from the comics medium and its institutions to discourses about art, subjectivity, identity, and communities. The contributors and their work, as such, represent a new generation of comics research that combines the study of comics as a unique art form with a focus on the ways in which comics, like any other medium, participate in shaping the societies of which they are part.

Grief Work as Autotheory Meg Jensen, 2026-02-04. Grief Work as Autotheory is an interdisciplinary narrative non-fiction book that tests the boundaries between experimental autobiography and life writing scholarship. Written by Meg Jensen, a scholar whose career has focused on how we process trauma through writing, this memoir explores the author's own experience of losing her sister to suicide. Bringing in literary touchstones such as Virginia Woolf and Vladimir Nabokov, as well as artists like Vincent van Gogh and Thomas Gainsborough, Jensen mines her years of research to bring clarity to her own loss and grief. Introduced with a preface by Julia Watson and including a separate essay on the author's reflections on trauma theory and life writing scholarship in creative practice, this book will be of interest to students and scholars of life writing and creative writing, as well as those interested in the relationship between literary work, trauma, and healing.

Read On...Life Stories Rosalind Reisner, 2009-09-23. Scores of appeal-based reading lists cover topics you'll never find in the library catalog: from extraordinary women and overcoming adversity to sports talk, spiritual journeys, and luminous prose. reading For all those who love delving into the lives of others this Read On volume offers help Read On Life Stories Reading Lists for Every Taste offers brief descriptions of nearly 450 published memoirs from classics like The Autobiography of Benjamin Franklin to recent bestsellers like John Grogan's Marley and Me and Julie Andrews Home Titles are grouped together by their appeal to readers and there is something for everyone humorous memoirs thrilling adventure stories chatty celebrity reminiscences cathartic dramas of family dysfunction fascinating career retrospectives and insightful stories of family and personal lives in many eras and places

»Gold Fever» and Women Sigrid Schönfelder,2023-02-06 Throughout its history the American West symbolized a place of hope and new beginnings where anything was possible especially for men However the history written until the 1970s and 1980s excluded women Sigrid Sch nfelder illustrates how the American West served as a catalytic gold mine for many transformations for women It draws on the life narratives of three healthcare providers whose devotion within the social reform movements of the long nineteenth century contributed significantly to shaping healthcare policies Their stories show how women contributed to place making in the West and served as role models for other women to enter the field of medicine

Narratives of Dependency Elke Brüggem, Marion Gymnich,2024-05-20 Given that strong asymmetrical dependencies have shaped human societies throughout history this kind of social relation has also left its traces in many types of texts Using written and oral narratives in attempts to reconstruct the history of asymmetrical dependency comes along with various methodological challenges as the 15 articles in this interdisciplinary volume illustrate They focus on a wide range of different factual and fictional text types including inscriptions from Egyptian tombs biblical stories novels from antiquity the Middle High German Rolandslied Ottoman court records captivity narratives travelogues the American gift book The Liberty Bell and oral narratives by Caribbean Hindu women Most of the texts discussed in this volume have so far received comparatively little attention in slavery and dependency studies The volume thus also seeks to broaden the archive of texts that are deemed relevant in research on the histories of asymmetrical dependencies bringing together perspectives from disciplines such as Egyptology theology literary studies history and anthropology

Illness and Literature in the Low Countries Jaap Grave,Rick Honings,Bettina Noak,2015-12-09 From as early as classical antiquity there has been an interplay between literature and medicine The first book of Homer's Iliad recounts the plague that swept the camp of the Achaeans While this instance concerns a full length book it is the aphorism that is of greater importance as a literary technique for the dissemination of medical knowledge from the Corpus Hippocraticum of antiquity until the Aphorismi de cognoscendis et curandis morbis 1715 by Herman Boerhaave In addition the subject of illness and its impact on mankind was explored by great numbers of poetic scholars and scholarly poets This collection offers fourteen articles which all highlight the relation between disease and literature It entails a first ever overview of Dutch language research in this field whereby the literary and cultural functions of medical knowledge and the poetics of medical and literary writing are in the focus

African Women Under Fire Pauline Ada

Uwakweh,2017-03-16 African writers and literary critics must account for the changing political terrain and how these contribute to creating new sources of conflicts and aggression toward women This book brings insight and scholarly breadth to the growing research on women war and conflict in Africa The aftermath of wars and conflicts initiates new forms of violence and related gender challenges The contributors establish compelling evidence for the significance of gender in the analyses of contemporary warfare and conflict Articulating war s consequences for women and children remains a major challenge for critics policy makers and human rights organizations There is a need for deeper understanding of the new sources of violence and male aggression on women the gendered challenges of reintegration in the aftermath and the future consequences of gendered violence for the African continent This book will be useful to scholars researchers instructors students of literature in the humanities women s studies liberal studies African studies etc at both undergraduate and graduate levels It also offers interdisciplinary utility for readers interested in literary representations of women s experience in war and conflict
